Top Of The Morning

WEATHER

It is going to be wet, cloudy and cool today with the high expected near 78 degrees. Tonight should be cloudy and mild with an overnight low near 62. The five day forecast for Saturday through Wednesday calls for temperatures averaging below normal. A cool rainy weekend is expected. Temperatures should become warmer by Wednesday. Sunrise today was at 5:10 a.m.; sunset will be at 8:44 p.m. Yesterday's 7 a.m. report: high 73; low 56; there was no precipitation recorded.

Kinzua Dam Report

Pool level 1328.26 feet (desired summer pool level 1328; maximum 1365). Outflow temperature 67 degrees; upper reservoir 71 degrees. Reading at the Warren gauge 3.70 feet.

WARREN COUNTY

Warren County is unique in Northwestern Pennsylvania. It is the only county which has had four postmasterships open for appointment for anywhere from 18 months to six years.

A 20-year-old Pittsfield man was in jail in lieu of bail yesterday, after being charged by borough police with larceny of a motor vehicle, police said.

THE RACIAL SCENE

DETROIT—Tanks and armored cars with machine guns rumbled this city's riot-torn streets yesterday as Gov. George Romney of Michigan lifted a dawn-to-dusk curfew. But it was reimposed again last night when rioters flooded the area. Romney and Detroit's mayor appealed to President Johnson to declare the city a disaster area. Outside the riot areas, Detroit appeared to be almost normal as commuters again jammed into the downtown section.

WASHINGTON—President Johnson reportedly sidestepped Governor Romney's request for federal assistance but offered surplus food and medicines. Amidst signs of tension between the White House and Romney, the administration was said to need time to study the need for disaster financial aid to Detroit. Three issues were said to be troubling the President: Whether to "reward" the rioters and risk setting a precedent for man-made emergencies, whether he has the legal right to do so, and finally, that Romney has been making his case through the press rather than by contacting the President personally.

WASHINGTON—Sen. Thurston B. Morton of Kentucky, former chairman of the Republican National Committee, said that his party had been "irresponsible" in blaming President Johnson for the nation's race riots. The senator urged Congress to "get out of this political arena" and set up a $1-billion "anti-riot chest" that the President could make available immediately to mayors for a social action program aimed at restoring peace in troubled cities.

NEW YORK—Four of 23 young Negroes arrested early yesterday after a midtown looting raid were revealed at bail hearing to be employees of city-sponsored youth and anti-poverty projects. The four were among 17 youths ordered held in jail on charges of burglary and receiving stolen goods. Mayor Lindsay, after inspecting the affected midtown area, said that reports of destruction were "vastly exaggerated." He chided the news media for giving the impression "that midtown Manhattan was ravaged."

THE NATION

WASHINGTON—The Senate Foreign Relations Committee slashed $756-million from the administration's $3.46-billion foreign aid authorization bill and ordered the measure reported to the Senate, where it faces further pruning efforts.

WASHINGTON—The Senate Foreign Relations Committee also voted to place serious inhibitions on U.S. arms sales to underdeveloped countries. It adopted an amendment to the foreign assistance act that would gradually abolish the defense department's $363-million revolving arms sales credit fund.

THE WORLD

WASHINGTON—The State Department condemned the reported use of poison gas by the United Arab Republic in Yemen and said the United States would support international steps to stop such "inhuman" action. The State Department did not directly accuse Egypt of using poison gas in the Yemen civil war. But the department left no doubt that it believed the Egyptian air force was dropping poison gas on villages in the royalist-held territory of Yemen.

SPORTS

Boating regulations for the Kinzua Reservoir were announced yesterday. There will be no horsepower and speed restrictions for the lake, and the Kinzua Creek will have a high-speed lane. Page A10.

The Fourth Annual Recreation Softball Tournament starts tonight at Carbon Memorial Field with two games on tap. The ten-team tourney will conclude on Sunday evening. Page A8.

The Warren Beverage Baseball Club plays three games in the Glenwood League this weekend. The loop leaders meet Security Peoples Trust tonight in Erie and travels to West Springfield for a doubleheader with Bihler Tires on Sunday. Beverage batting and pitching records appear on Page A9.

The United States team continued to dominate the Pan-Am Games yesterday, posting triumphs in swimming, wrestling and shooting events. Two Yank swimmers set world marks as the U.S. ran its Gold Medal total to 17. Page A8.

Moynihan 'Foresaw' Rioting

(c) N.Y. Times News Service
WASHINGTON — Daniel P. Moynihan, the sociologist and former Assistant Secretary of Labor, told a Senate committee yesterday that the nation faced the danger of "a serious reaction" setting in. "It's all around us," he said.

Moynihan, now director of the Joint Center of Urban Affairs at Harvard and the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, appeared before a Senate subcommittee that is studying legislation to set up a council on social problems that would be similar to the President's Council of Economic Advisors. Moynihan said the present riots appeared on the government's "radar screen" several years ago. He said they could be foreseen in the emergence of an "urban lower class."

This, he said, was a social, not a racial, phenomenon and had been seen more than 100 years ago among Irish refugees in New York City. The evidence, he said, was the large numbers of people on welfare, the large number of broken homes and other factors. There were three reasons, he said, why the government did nothing about it.

First, "The Negro leadership and organizations did not want to talk about these problems. It was a painful subject for them. Also, they probably did not know much about it."

Second, "This country still has a strong persistent streak of racism in it" and even those whites who are not racist "adjust ourselves to live with it."

Third, "Washington is a Southern middle class city with a bureaucracy that is Southern and middle class. It is uncomfortable dealing with problems in the north and dealing with Negroes who don't act like Negroes do in the South."

Even when well intentioned, he said, the government agencies tended "to cover up the need" by withholding statistics they felt would not make Negroes look good.

"If you have a large disadvantaged lower class," he said, "you are going to have violence. When you add the factor of race in this still racist society you give a legitimacy to the violence."

Higher Postal Rates Approved In Washington

WASHINGTON (AP) — A House Post Office subcommittee approved yesterday legislation calling for higher postage rates, including six cents for letters and 10 cents for air mail.

The measure goes on to the full committee, where consideration will start next week.

By raising first-class and airmail rates above what the Johnson administration proposed and by cutting back on increases for third-class mail, the subcommittee added an estimated $25 million in additional revenues to the $825 million forecast by the Post Office Department.

Detroit's Massive Riot Appears Over

By JERRY M. FLINT
(c) N.Y. Times News Service
DETROIT — Detroit's four-day riot appeared over and a citywide 9 p.m. curfew was lifted yesterday, but then reimposed last night because sightseers were flooding into riot areas.

"It's pretty close to over," Cyrus Vance, President Johnson's personal representative on the scene, said.

"It looks pretty good," Mayor Jerome P. Cavanagh observed.

Gen. John Throckmorton, who commands 11,500 Army and National Guard troops in the city, said only isolated snipers remained.

Walter P. Reuther, president of the United Automobile Workers union, said he had met with local union leaders in Detroit and pledged 600,000 men to help clean up the city in their spare time. He asked industry to provide the tools, such as bulldozers, to help with the job. Police commissioner Roy Girardin said he had found no evidence that a conspiracy was involved in the rioting.

Riot-torn streets, such as Grand River ave., were jammed yesterday with sight-seeing motorists. City bulldozers, cranes and cleaning crews

JOHNSON SPEAKS ON RIOTS

President Johnson last night called for establishment of a committee to investigate the causes of the race riots that have plagued the nation. In a television speech last night, he also called for intensified riot training for National Guardsmen.

Objects of Probe: Racial Hotspots

Philadelphia

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Small gangs of teen-aged Negroes threw rocks and bottles in an area of South Philadelphia late last night, police said. The disturbances were reported quelled within an hour.

A detective at the emergency police command headquarters said at 11:30 p.m. that the situation was under control.

Philadelphia, with a population of 2 million, earlier in the evening was placed in a state of limited emergency by Mayor James H. J. Tate in the wake of rioting in other major American cities.

New York City

(c) N.Y. Times News Service
NEW YORK—Four of the 23 young Negroes arrested early yesterday after a midtown looting raid were revealed at bail hearings later in the day to be employees of city-sponsored youth and anti-poverty projects.

The four were among 17 youths ordered held in bail in criminal court on charges of burglary and receiving stolen goods.

knocked down walls and were moving debris in the hardest hit areas. Soldiers were ordered to sheathe their bayonets. However, soldiers, guardsmen and convoys of policemen continued to patrol through the city and stand guard at public buildings. There has been no indication thus far that the military forces will be removed.

Many soldiers left their bayonets out despite orders, and a ban against the sale of alcoholic beverages and gasoline in containers continued. The city authorities, however, turned their attention to rebuilding the city. So far the riot, the worst in the nation's recent history, has claimed 37 lives. The latest to die was George Messequina, 68 years old, a white shoe repairman. He was beaten by a Negro gang Sunday, the first day of the looting, burning, and sniping. Property damage has been estimated at more than $200-million. More than 1,000 have been injured, 5,000 persons including juveniles have been jailed, 1,700 stores looted, and 1,317 buildings set afire.

The clean-up is moving quickly. Piles of brick and rubble have been cleared from the streets and sidewalks in the riot areas.

President Names Riot Commission

By MAX FRANKEL

(c) N.Y. Times News Service
WASHINGTON — President Johnson announced last night that he had named a special advisory commission to investigate the epidemic of disorders and to recommend remedial measures to him, the Congress, state governors and mayors.

In a television address to the nation, Johnson appealed to the American people to work and pray for reconciliation and for better jobs, housing and education that missions of poor Americans need.

The special commission, the President said, will be able to draw on facts gathered by the Federal Bureau of Investigation to assess the causes of the rioting and will be called upon to recommend measures "to prevent or contain such disasters in the future."

The commission is to be headed by Gov. Otto Kerner of Illinois, as chairman, and Mayor John Lindsay of New York City, as vice chairman.

The other members will be Sen. Fred R. Harris, D-Okla., Sen. Edward W. Brooke, R-Mass., Rep. James C. Conman, D-Calif., Rep. William M. McCulloch, R-Ohio, I. W. Abel, president of the United Steel Workers, Charles B. Thornton, president and chairman of the board of Litton Industries, Roy Wilkins, executive director of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, Katherine Graham Peden, commissioner of commerce of Kentucky, and Herbert Jenkins, chief of police of Atlanta.

In addition, Johnson disclosed an order to defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara to issue new training standards for riot control procedures to all National Guard units across the country, to start at once. The guard must have the ability to respond effectively and appropriately to disorder and violence, the President said.

Finally, Johnson proclaimed next Sunday as a national day of prayer.

The immediate task, Johnson said, was to "go about our work" to clear the streets of rubble and to quench the fires that hatred had set, to feed and care for those who had suffered at the rioters' hands but without any "bonus" or "reward" for those who have inflicted that suffering.

This appeared to be one reason for the President's hesitation earlier yesterday to grant the request of Michigan authorities that Detroit be declared a disaster area and given special financial assistance to cope with the consequences of the rioting there.

The 11-member commission appointed by the President, to be known as the Special Advisory Commission on Civil Disorders, in effect pre-empted the ground that various committees of Congress had tried to seize in recent days. The prospect of several congressional inquiries into the cause of the rioting threatened not only a multiplicity of hearings but also a widespread demand upon the time of both federal and state and local officials dealing with

Foreign Aid Cuts Made by Committee

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Foreign Relations Committee reported yesterday it has cut more than 20 per cent from President Johnson's foreign aid requests for the current fiscal year.

The committee, which now has completed action on the bill, cut $736.8-million from the $3.46-billion the President had sought in new authorizations.

The military aid portion of the bill was slashed more than one third—from $996-million to $391-million. Economic aid was reduced by $538.8-million.

And the committee also adopted an amendment, over administration opposition, to discourage arms sales to underdeveloped countries through the Export-Import Bank.

Committee Chairman J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., a longtime critic of the administration's foreign policies, traced the sharp cuts to what he termed concern about the Vietnam war and a feeling that the outbreak of violence in cities throughout the nation mandates more attention to domestic problems.

These are the major cutbacks: —Alliance for Progress, from $750-million to $600-million.

—Development loans, from $750-million to $600-million.

—Supporting assistance, most of it for Vietnam, $720-million to $600-million. This is aid designed to bolster the economy of a country.

—Presidential contingency fund, $100-million to $50-million.

—Technical assistance, $243-million to $210-million.

"IT'S AS AMERICAN AS CHERRY PIE"

SNCC Head Urges Violence

By BEN A. FRANKLIN

(c) N.Y. Times News Service
WASHINGTON—H. Rap Brown, the militant Black Power leader and chairman of the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee, advised Negroes in Washington last night to "get you some guns" and "burn this town down."

It does not satisfy militant Negro demands. In a speech from the pulpit of St. Stephen and the Incarnation Episcopal Church in northwest Washington, Brown urged Washington Negroes to warn white persons away from this city's sprawling Negro ghettos. Washington's population of 810,000 persons is 63 per cent Negro.

"You have to tell the man (the white man) if you come into my community you are going to come in with the intent of dying or you don't come in at all," Brown declared. He was wildly cheered.

Brown warned a perspiring audience of about 1,000, nearly all of them Negroes, that "the man is going to try to kill you. He is going to turn black policemen on you."

"Well," he said, "Tomorrow this city might have an all-white police force."

"Black people have been looting," Brown said at one point. "I say there should be more shooting than looting, so if you loot, loot a gun store."

"You've got to decide for yourself if you kill your enemy, because that is an individual decision," he said. "But the white man is your enemy . . . you got to destroy your enemy."

"If you give me a gun and tell me to shoot my enemy, I might shoot Ladybird," Brown said.

According to the Rev. William Wendt, rector of the integrated church on upper 16th st., Brown's appearance there last night was sanctioned by the Right Rev. Paul Moore, the assistant Episcopal bishop of the diocese of Washington.

Father Wendt, who is active in a number of civil rights organizations here, is white. "The church is a great place for all things," the priest told newsmen. "Everybody is afraid and the one place in the world where fear has been overcome is the church."

Earlier yesterday, Brown was asked at a humid, impromptu news conference what it would take to satisfy black power militants. Brown replied, "I want Lyndon Johnson to resign and go to Vietnam and fight — he and his family." Negro onlookers cheered as he brushed aside newsmen's requests that he "be more specific."

Brown called the President, "wild, mad dog, an outlaw from Texas." The youthful leader blamed the President for the Negro rioting and looting which has swept American cities this summer, saying that Johnson had sent "white killers" and "hunkie, cracker federal troops into Negro communities to kill black people."

He urged Negroes to "vote for George Wallace because Wallace is a true American. He don't mind telling people what he thinks about black people."

The 23-year-old Negro leader told a sweating, impromptu gathering of newsmen, whom he met in shifts in the tiny basement storefront office of the Washington chapter of SNCC under the Lovely Lady Beauty Parlor, that reporters could "put quotes around the words 'nonviolent'" in the organization's name.

OBITUARIES

Mrs. Laura F. Freck Greenwood

Mrs. Laura F. Freck Greenwood, who directed the Jamestown High School English department for 27 years, died at WCA Hospital at 9:40 p.m. Wednesday, July 26, 1967.

Mrs. Greenwood, who was 79, and her husband Henry Peel Greenwood lived at 230 Summit ave.

Mrs. Greenwood joined the Jamestown High School faculty in 1919 and during her teaching career inaugurated the English supplementary program acclaimed as the best in New York state at that time.

She formulated a reading program, "The American Scene," that attracted the attention of the state department of special studies and was copied in several other cities in the state. While the present high school was being built in the 1930's, she was instrumental in securing an English conference room for students and conducting a remedial program. She retired from the JHS faculty in 1946.

Mrs. Greenwood, originally from New York City, received a bachelor of arts degree at Oberlin College with honors in English and was awarded a master of arts degree at Cornell University, cum laude. She studied for a doctorate at the University of California.

She held a Phi Beta Kappa key.

Her activities at the high school and in the community were widespread.

Mrs. Greenwood was a senior adviser and head of the business and editorial staffs for the yearbook; she assisted in play productions at JHS.

She was a member of the Fortnightly college women's club and national state, and local English organizations. She was prominent in affairs at First Congregational Church.

Mrs. Greenwood, a resident of Jamestown most of her life, was married in 1931 at fall services in First Congregational Church.

She was born in Coudersport, Pa., Aug. 11, 1887, the daughter of Charles and Sarah Allen Freck.

Besides her husband, she is survived by two step-daughters, Mrs. Harold Berg and Mrs. Harry Davis, both of RD 3, Jamestown; a step-son, Henry N. Greenwood of West Elliptic; two nieces, Mrs. Dorothy Reed of Driftwood and Mrs. Charles W. Slater of Olean; a nephew, Kenneth G. Johnston of Searsdale; and two grand-nephews.

Services will be held at 1:30 p.m. Saturday, July 29, 1967, at Lind Funeral Home. The Rev. Ellis F. Eaton of First Congregational Church will officiate. Burial will be in Lake View Cemetery.

The family will receive friends from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m. Friday at the funeral home.

Louis Forsythe

Word has been received of the death of Louis Forsythe, 58, of 4th ave., Union City, Pa., a former employee on the Allegheny Reservoir project, who died Thursday, July 27, 1967.

The Glenn Funeral Home, in Union City, is in charge of funeral arrangements. Burial will be Saturday, July 29, 1967, in Washington, Pa.

FUNERAL NOTICES

Mrs. Gertrude Losgren

Funeral services for Mrs. Gertrude Losgren, 73, of RD 1, Grand Valley, who died Wednesday, July 26, 1967, will be held at the Tracy Funeral Home, Titusville, at 1:30 p.m. today. The Rev. D.W. St. Clair, of Wesleyan Methodist Church, Pittsfield, will officiate.

Burial will be in Multry Cemetery, Grand Valley.

Mrs. Lorena Louise Bauer

Funeral services for Mrs. Lorena Louise Bauer, 74, of 1940 Conewango ave., who died Wednesday, July 26, 1967, will be held at Templeton Funeral Home at 1:30 p.m. today. The Rev. Frederick B. Haer of First Lutheran Church will officiate. Burial will be in Pine Grove Cemetery, Russell.

NAACP Distributes Anti-Riot Stickers

By SALLY RYAN
NEW YORK (AP)—While rioters have been ripping through the nation's Negro slums, looting and burning, the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People quietly has been sending out brilliant orange, fuchsia and green stickers.

"Keep cool—let the other guy blow his top," they say. And "The other side wins if we lose our cool." And "Bricks through windows don't open doors."

"Unfortunately, they haven't seemed to cool things much," signed an NAACP spokesman. "We realize they can't stop a riot, but they do carry a message to people," he added.

The NAACP credits Roy Wilkins, its national executive secretary, with thinking of the idea.

The first 100,000 were sent out in June, when it was still cool. They went to 1,500 NAACP branches across the country—including some in areas that since have erupted.

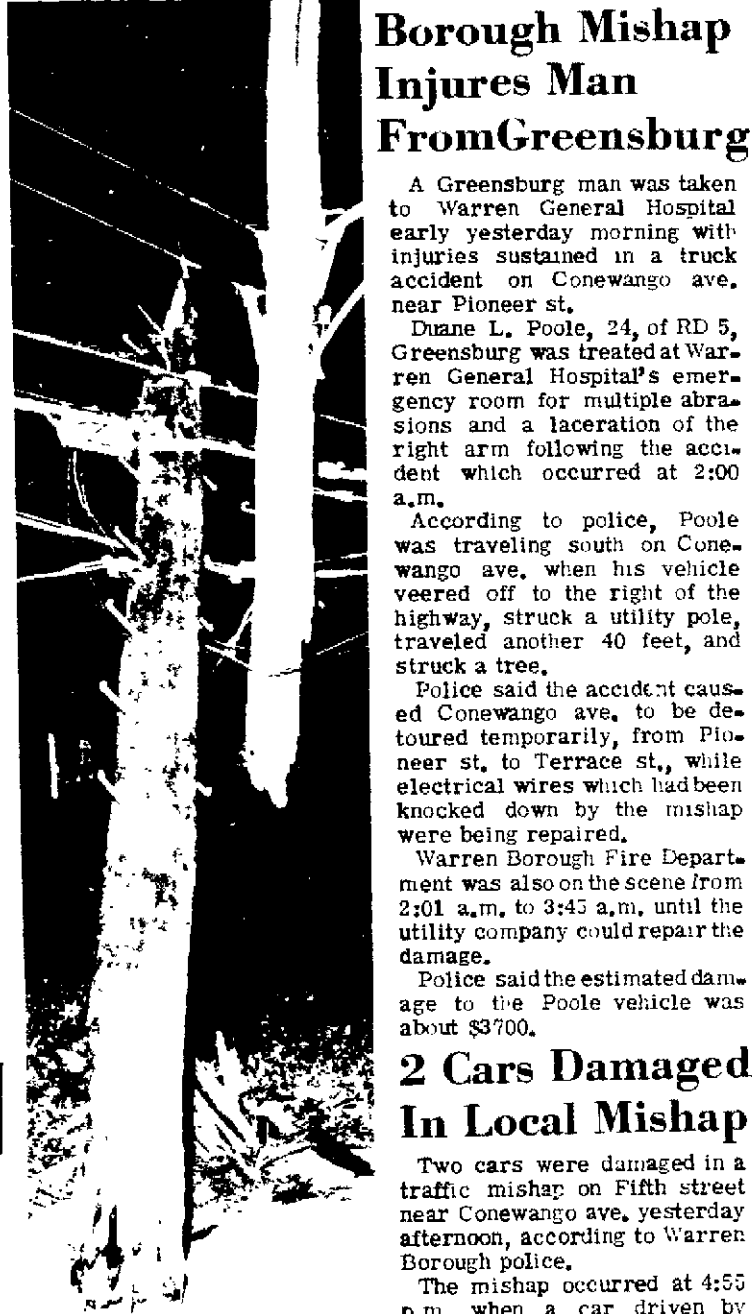

Recorders, at a penny apiece, have poured in since the riots in Newark and Detroit, the NAACP said.

"We ask people to stick them in ghetto areas, where people will see them and stop to think a minute," the NAACP spokesman said. "People have been very responsive."

Speech Brown

Johnson went out of his way to emphasize that J. Edgar Hoover, the director of the FBI, will continue to exercise full authority to investigate these riots and to continue to search for evidence of conspiracy in them.

The President's order to improve the training of National Guard units grows out of the experience in many of the disturbances and specifically in the Newark riots two weeks ago. Gov. Richard J. Hughes of New Jersey was among the first to note that the guardsmen were inexperienced at containing the violence, sustaining many casualties, on the one hand, and often inflicting them indiscriminately out of fear on the other.

The need for guard training was also underscored by the Detroit riot, where many Guardsmen were unavailable for immediate mobilization and where Army units were needed to contain the outbreak. Johnson emphasized again, however, that local police and state officials had the primary responsibility for handling law enforcement and that federal power could be used only in extraordinary circumstances where the local authorities make it clear that they cannot maintain order.

2 Cars Damaged In Local Mishap

Two cars were damaged in a traffic mishap on Fifth street near Conewango ave. yesterday afternoon, according to Warren Borough police.

The mishap occurred at 4:55 p.m. when a car driven by Mrs. Claude Phillips, 66, of 519 Buchanan st., struck a car owned by Harold F. Swanson, 67, of 7 Wilson st., police said.

The Phillips car, according to police, was traveling west on Fifth st. The driver attempted to go around the Swanson vehicle, which police said was legally parked at the north curb of Fifth st. The Phillips car reportedly struck the left rear fender of the Swanson vehicle.

The estimated total damage was $350: $200 to the Phillips vehicle and $150 to the Swanson car.

Borough Mishap Injures Man From Greensburg

A Greensburg man was taken to Warren General Hospital early yesterday morning with injuries sustained in a truck accident on Conewango ave. near Pioneer st.

Duane L. Poole, 24, of RD 5, Greensburg was treated at Warren General Hospital's emergency room for multiple abrasions and a laceration of the right arm following the accident which occurred at 2:00 a.m.

According to police, Poole was traveling south on Conewango ave. when his vehicle veered off to the right of the highway, struck a utility pole, traveled another 40 feet, and struck a tree.

Police said the accident caused Conewango ave. to be detoured temporarily, from Pioneer st. to Terrace st., while electrical wires which had been knocked down by the mishap were being repaired.

Warren Borough Fire Department was also on the scene from 2:01 a.m. to 3:45 a.m., until the utility company could repair the damage.

Police said the estimated damage to the Poole vehicle was about $3700.

No Conspiracy Seen In Detroit Violence

By GENE ROBERTS
(c) N.Y. Times News Service
DETROIT — Police Commissioner Ray Girardin said yesterday he has found no evidence that Detroit's Negro riot was caused by outside agitators or by any conspiracy to wreak chaos on the nation's cities.

He said that his "information to date" leads him to believe that the riot was started by "half-drunk young Negroes" and then fed upon frustrations and a national climate of Negro violence.

He discussed his findings amid suspicion by Gov. George Romney and many Detroiters that outside agitators were at work in the four days of rioting.

"There were indirect influences from outside, of course, due to speeches by people like Stokely Carmichael," Girardin said. "But I have no evidence of any conspiracy involved."

"Once the riot was under way, a sort of looting fever seized many Negroes that I'll bet never stole anything in their lives before," he added.

While Girardin was granting an hour-long interview in his office, one of his chief aides walked in, shaking his head in amazement.

"We're getting all kinds of calls from Negroes who say a funny thing has happened to them," the aide said. "They said they woke up this morning and found television sets and new clothing in their houses. They say they don't know how it got there. And they want us to come and get it."

Girardin allowed himself a slight grin. "See what I mean," he said. "Those people were drawn into the looting almost by an impulse they couldn't control. Looting was the thing to do at the moment, and they did it. Now they are ashamed and they want to give the stuff back."

"Should we arrest them?" his aide asked.

"I don't see how we can," the commissioner replied. "We can't prove anything."

Girardin then grew silent for a moment and tugged at his face—a face so wrinkled that one of his policemen once said that "it could hold a three-day rainfall."

"Maybe," Girardin continued, "I should be denouncing all law breakers and looters and making fiery speeches, but I'd rather spend my time finding out why they did what they did."

Clarendon Boy Catches Heel In Lawnmower

A 7-year-old Clarendon boy was hospitalized yesterday with injuries he sustained when his foot became caught in a lawnmower.

Duane Wagner, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Wagner of Clarendon, suffered a laceration of the right heel, hospital officials said.

According to hospital reports, the accident occurred shortly before 12:50 p.m.

GOP Leader Takes Anti-Party Stand

By JOHN HERBERS
(c) N.Y. Times News Service
WASHINGTON—Sen. Thurston B. Morton of Kentucky, former chairman of the Republican National Committee, said yesterday his party had been "irresponsible" in blaming President Johnson for the nation's race riots.

Morton urged Congress to "get out of this political arena" and set up a $1 billion "anti-riot chest" which the President could make available immediately to mayors for social action programs that would help restore peace.

This proposal was considered to be of some significance because Morton has been a conservative on domestic spending. It was made on the Senate floor as both chambers and the committee rooms resounded with debates on conflicting opinions as to what was wrong.

These were some of the developments:

—James G. O'Hara, D-Mich., and about 40 other representatives of both parties proposed that $300 million be made available to help local police forces deal with civil disorder.

O'Hara, chairman of the Democratic Study Group, composed of about 140 liberal Democrats, said the underlying causes of riots could be met only when law and order are restored.

—The House Rules Committee cleared for early House action a scaled-down version of President Johnson's anticrime bill. The bill is designed to beef up local police departments through grants and other assistance, but the House is sharply divided on whether there should be federal controls.

—A bill authorizing $75 million for emergency food and medical services to the poor advanced through the Senate Labor and Public Welfare Committee without dissent. The administration considers the bill a token step in quieting racial unrest.

—Angry House members stepped up their demands for increased federal action in the area of police power to quell the riots. There were demands that Stokely Carmichael, former chairman of the Student Non-violent Coordinating Committee, be arrested. Cornelius Gallagher, D-N.J., asked Attorney General Ramsey Clark to supply any information he has connecting the riots with groups trying to disrupt the Vietnam war effort.

NATIONAL LEADER OF S.N.C.C. -- H. RAP BROWN

Black Power Advocate Raps 'Hunkies'

(c) N. Y. Times News Service
When Stokely Carmichael introduced H. Rap Brown to news- men in Atlanta last May as the new chairman of the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Com- mittee, he said with tongue-in- cheek that "You'll be happy to have me back when you hear from him—he a bad man."

Although many have now ac- cepted that comment, he was described differently in an other quarter. "We knew him as Hubert and he was a pretty good citizen," said Ulysses S. Jones, dean of men at the South- ern University Agriculture and Mechanical College in Baton Rouge, La., in an interview yesterday.

The two views of Brown, whose real name is Hubert Gerold Brown, seem to sum up a man who has been described as af- fable and even-tempered when among Negroes and hostile and always on the attack when with whites.

Brown, who is free on $10,- 000 bail on a charge of incit- ing a riot in Cambridge, Md., has not left much doubt among many whites, whom he usually refers to as "hunkies," as to where he stands on race re- lations.

In Jersey City a few nights ago, he exhorted a group of 100 Negroes to "wage guerilla war on the hunky wite man." In Cambridge last Monday, prior to a night of arson and gunfire, he urged 400 Negroes to "burn this town down." Other equally militant statements have been made recently by Brown in such racially tense cities as Cincinnati, Ohio, Hous- ton, Texas, Montgomery, Ala., and Dayton, Ohio.

A tall, gangling man who af- fects a heavy drooping mous- tache, dark glasses and a "natural-style" African hairdo, Brown usually appears at rallies in the traditional garb of the southern Negro share- cropper—a blue denim jacket and light-fitting blue jeans.

When he made his debut as chairman of SNCC the 23-year- old Brown appeared shy and less assured than had the con- troversial Carmichael. He has gained confidence and develop- ed into a fiery, persuasive ora- tor, able to work Negro audi- ences to anger.

Brown was born in Baton Rouge, La., on Oct. 4, 1943, the son of Eddie Charles Brown, a worker for the Esso Petrole- um Company, and the former Thelma Warren. He attended the Baton Rouge public schools and was graduated from a dem- onstration high school at South- ern University. He entered the university as a sociology major in September of 1960.

He attended Southern Univer- sity for three years and two summers, and school records show he had a good scholastic record.

"We never had any disciplin- ary problems with him," says Dean Jones. "He was never involved in any trouble and in that respect he was a perfect- ly ordinary student."

Brown left college before graduating and went to work for SNCC in Mississippi. He was promoted to project director for the state of Alabama, where he worked in voter registra- tion drives and other civil rights programs. Then he became na- tional chairman when Carmichael decided to return to field work.

Sources within the organiza- tion say that Brown acquired the nickname Rap during the early days as a rights work- er when his hard stand caused audiences to shout, "Rap it to 'em, baby."

The question of how to spell Rap has caused a good deal of anxiety among newsmen and last month, in Houston, a re- porter asked Brown what his real name was. "A man's name doesn't mean anything," the SNCC leader replied tart- ly.

The reporter asked him how Rap was spelled. "Spell it any way you want to," Brown snapped back.

"How did you get the name?" the newsmen said. "What's wrong with it?" parried Mr. Brown. "Nothing's wrong with it, how do you spell it?" the reporter persisted.

"Spell it with two p's, if you want to," Brown said.

Yesterday, during an im- promptu sidewalk conference in Washington, D.C., the ques- tion arose again. "How do you spell Rap?" asked the white reporter.

"Spell it R-a-p, hunky," came the definitive answer.

Mass Exposure of Riot Agitators is Attacked

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Durward G. Hall, R-Mo., called yesterday for more responsibility on the part of news media in reporting racial distur- bances.

"A sad but tragic fact," he said in a speech to the House, "is that our marvel of instant communications, with the poten- tial to do so much good, mir- rors the day-to-day events lead- ing up to a riot in a fashion no less detestable than the worst days of yellow journalism."

"National commentators on television and radio decry what is happening today," he added, "but over many yesterdays they permitted their facilities to be used as incitement to riot, and now they too are reaping what they have sowed..."

"A Stokely Carmichael call- ing for insurrection on a street corner soap box is a curiosity, a 'hippie' talking to a few other 'hippies'."

"But a Stokely Carmichael talking face to face to millions of people, recognized by those whose responsibility it is to make sober judgment about whom to give mass exposure, is immediately transformed from an oddball to a national figure."

"Is it too much," he asked, "to expect responsibility from the news media without whose cooperation the Stokely Carmi- chael could never preach their message of hate and insurrec- tion?"

FOR POWER, NOT TERRAIN

Viet Generals Maneuver

BY BARRY KRAMER
SAIGON (AP) — South Viet- nam's generals, who have ruled the country by decree for two years, are maneuvering to maintain as much power as pos- sible no matter who wins the September presidential elec- tion.

Informed sources report that the generals are forming a new military committee to repre- sent them after an elected gov- ernment takes over.

If their own military presiden- tial ticket wins, the committee would act as a kitchen cabinet to help formulate policy. The ticket is headed by Lt. Gen. Nguyen Van Thieu with Air Vice Marshall Nguyen Cao Ky as vice president.

But the generals apparently also are worried that one of the 10 civilians might win. In that case, the new committee might be the means by which the gen- erals could exert pressure on him.

The generals now rule through the Armed Forces Council, a purely military group, and the National Leader- ship Council, made up of 10 military and 10 civilian members. Thieu is chief of state and Ky is premier.

Both groups will go out of ex- istence after the elected govern- ment is functioning.

Both Thieu and Ky have said that the armed forces would not stand for a civilian government that "does not live up to the as- pirations of the Vietnamese peo- ple" or one that is neutralist or pro-Communist.

Ky said Thursday the Armed Forces Council was studying its course after the elections. But he told Vietnamese reporters: "We are discussing this among ourselves, we can't discuss it with newsmen. This is a mili- tary secret. If you write about it in any paper, you will be brought to court."

Other Vietnamese newsmen reported Ky told them that a

BLACK POWER ADVOCATE HANDCUFFED

H. Rap Brown, Black Power advocate and national chairman of the Student Non-Violent Co-ordinating Committee, was freed on bond after being arrested for inciting to riot. He is shown above in the custody of FBI agents Wednesday. Brown wears a patch on his forehead because of a slight injury he suffered during a disturbance in Cambridge, Md., Monday.

DEADLY AND TINIER THAN VIRUS

New Germ is 'Incredible'

By WALTER SULLIVAN

(c) N.Y. Times News Service
NEW YORK—A disease-caus- ing agent has been found that is so resistant to sterilization by heat, chemicals or radia- tion that some biologists re- gard it as nonliving. Yet it proliferates in its host in the same way as do bacteria or viruses.

The discovery has been hailed by British workers in the field as possibly revealing a new class of disease-carrier that could account for some of the more mysterious disorders of the human nervous system.

The disease in question, known as scrapie (pronounced scrapee), chiefly affects sheep, but it has long been associated with a similar human disease called kuru. The latter is found only among members and relatives of a certain ethnic group in New Guinea. Its transmission within this group is attributed in part to cannibalism of those who have died of the ailment, which, like scrapie, is invari- ably fatal.

Repeated Poison Gas Use Blasted by U.S. Official

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States condemned yesterday the reported use of poison gas in Yemen and an- nounced it would support any international action dealing with this problem.

"We continue to be deeply disturbed by Yemen reports on the use of poisonous gas against civilians in the Yemen, reports that hundreds had been killed and many others gravely affect- ed," State Department press officer Robert J. McCloskey

Woman's Body Is Found in Erie Waters

CONNEAUT, Ohio (AP)—Ash- tabula County authorities were trying yesterday to determine if the body of a woman taken from Lake Erie was one of four persons missing in a light plane since last December.

The plane reportedly crashed Dec. 19 about four miles north of Ashtabula. It was never found.

The decomposed body was found yesterday by a com- mercial tug four miles north of Conneaut and picked up later by the Coast Guard.

County Coroner John R. Hig- erd said the body appeared to have been in the water for six months and fits the general de- scription of one of the two women on board the plane. The plane reportedly crashed in the general area where the body was found.

The plane disappeared from radar scopes at Port Erie Air- port in Erie, Pa., after it had taken off there and apparent- ly was headed for Cleveland.

told a news conference.

McCloskey, however, declin- ed to confirm that the United States was satisfied Egyptian troops did use poisonous gas in supporting the Yemeni republi- can regime in the five-year-old civil war. He also declined to say what international action the United States would support.

McCloskey said, however, in response to questions, that the United States has no reason to doubt a June 2 announcement by the International Committee of the Red Cross which said a Red Cross medical team had found "various indications point- ing to the use of poison gas bombs" in the Yemen war.

LONDON (AP) — Britain dis- closed Thursday its intention to consult other governments on ways to stop the alleged use of poison gas by United Arab Re- public forces in Yemen.

The Practice of Law

Beginning with the common law down to the complex statutes that govern modern society, people have been inculcated with the belief that government by law and not by men is the best guarantee of individual freedom and security. History has borne out this belief. Yet, the administration of the law is today up against critical problems.

Courts are overcrowded and questions are being raised as to the standards, ethics and competence of lawyers. The Christian Science Monitor recently devoted a series of articles to a discussion of the legal profession by one of its staff correspondents. In one of these features, it noted that "At last leading lawyers are talking openly — at least within their own ranks — about the bitter complaints aimed at their profession." These com-

A Sense of Wonder

The famous geologist and geographer Wallace Atwood, when he was nearly eighty years old, gave us his secret for remaining young—the ability to "never lose the power of wonder. If you keep that alive, you stay young forever," he said. "If you lose it, you die."

One of the best ways in which to keep alive the power of wonder is through the study of Nature. By this I do not mean the dull text book study of the natural sciences. Rather, I mean taking to field and forest with a pocket set of guide books on birds, trees, wild flowers, or fossils, and a good hand lens for prying into the intimate secrets that Nature guards so jealously.

A dandelion gone to seed is a marvelously intricate globe that under a hand lens may triple in size and fill one with a sense of wonder that the yellow flower of the common dandelion could be transformed into such a globular cluster of seed-bearing parachutes.

You may subconsciously feel like a child again as you puff out your cheeks and blow apart

Gov. Shafer a Hair Ahead

HARRISBURG — Reporter's Notebook: "We're Not Alone"—One administration legislative leader expressed it thusly this week in referring to the inability of Governor Shafer and his administration starts to whip through the Legislature the Governor's proposed $267 million tax increase.

What the legislative brave meant was that down in Washington (Democratic) President Johnson was having no more success whipping his tax increase through Congress than (Republican) Governor Shafer here at home.

On one point however His Excellency is a hair ahead of his counterpart in Washington: The Johnson Administration tax increase hasn't even budged from committee for floor action; the Shafer tax increase package has emerged from committee and ready for floor action by the House of Representatives—but it's been dangling there for the past couple of weeks as administration strategists scrounge diligently for needed support to move the revenue-raisers.

(To all intents and purposes the package might just as well have remained in committee.)

What — Another Survey? — When the Southeastern branch of the Americans for Democratic Action (ADA) proposed earlier in the week that an independent agency be called in to solve Pennsylvania's tax dilemma there were no discernable leaps for joy in Capitol Hill on the part of either Shafer Administration lawmakers or the Democratic Legislative brethren.

Perhaps the absence of any leaps was not without good reason. In the first place a number of lawmakers are becoming fed up with executive branch surveys on the fiscal front—inasmuch as the entire responsibility in the final analysis rests with them, not the executive branch.

Secondly, the fiscal picture has been literally surveyed to death in recent years by so-called blue ribbon groups gathered together at the behest of the Governor-of-the-moment—as in the case of the latest blue ribbon panel convened by Governor Shafer shortly after he donned the robes of office.

Thirdly, the straining and poring indulged in by these panels oftentimes goes for naught—as illustrated in the case of the Shafer tax panel which in the final analysis wound up with virtually all of its tax recommendations being ignored by Mr. Shafer and the Legislature. "Dear Fellow Sufferer!" — With these soothing words Herbert Fineman last week addressed his colleagues on the Democratic side in his weekly letter reminding lawmakers to be on hand for this week's legislative sessions.

"The summer grows hotter," scratched the feathered pen of Herbert Fineman (Esquire) as he scrawled his call to arms, "and I see no legislative relief in sight."

Displaying fine (man) literary talent, he penned this afterthought to his suffering brethren:

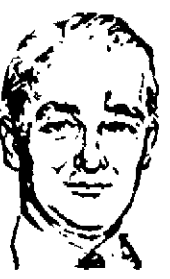

"I suggest that you count on at least a three-day session at the salt mines."

Hail To Efficiency — The Shafer Administration in the short time it has been in office has been plugging automation as the answer to greater efficiency in Pennsylvania's over-bulging state government (in fact there's a court case on at the moment in an effort to force the two state fiscal offices, not under the control of the Governor, to use machines in place of manpower).

Gold Coin Of the Sun

The sun stares rudely at the Bahama Islands. What it sees are 700 white pebbles, surrounded by waters blue enough for an old-fashioned fountain pen. The sky is pale and hot, and white terns stand still on wing. The palms hang with their arms at their sides. A jade lizard rocks on the matress of a hibiscus flower. The clouds tower white high in the blue. The black fin tuna sashays swiftly from the deep for a blue-striped bonita, and missing him, continues on out of the water, his varnished head glistening in the light. An old lady, black as evening slippers, crouches by the sea to put the hard white meat of a conch shell. Young women, with nude babies at their side, bend like praying mantis to search the hard ground for wild potatoes. On the edge of the sea, an old man holds his hat in his hand and stares at rows of neat rocks. This is a cemetery. These are the headstones. A small wall keeps the south wind outside. The old man used to come here, sorry for her. Now he weeps for himself.

Mr. Garvey runs a good place in the native village, and the men bring their shillings and dollars to drink booze and watch the limbo dancers. They laugh in the small hours, but they sweat on the boats by day. The new schooners look odd. They drag the shoals like tired swans.

Here, a man can have two kinds of children: in and out. The ins are sanctified by marriage; the outs are blessed by love. In the musical harbor of the Bahamas, one is not better than another. A pregnant miss pats her stomach and beams: "Dowlegs' baby." A man acknowledges his out children, and contributes to their support.

The black people have been here a long time. Today, they have the majesty of government; it is they who wear the periwigs and carry the mace of Her Majesty's Colony. It is part of a silent conviction. The new governor moves cautiously, swatting wildly when the flies stand still. Each gam-bling casino will now pay $1,000,000 a year in a land which has no income tax. This is a herniated weight.

The little man knows nothing about it except that he is glad to see faces in the newspaper which require more ink. He has no more money, but he feels good to know that, for the first time in history, he is a member of the ruling class. When you mention politics, he grins through warped teeth and points across Providence Channel toward Nassau. "It's over there," he says.

It's over here too, but he does not see it. Grand Bahama, the big neglected island, sparkles with new hotels and white terraced roofs. A man named Butler tried to convert the sands of Grand Bahama to sugar, but he failed. A man named Wallace Groves followed him and made dollars fly like frightened pigeons.

Some say he is a bad man. Few have met him. Fewer know. But the little man knows that when Mr. Groves says that oil will be pumped up out of the sea, it will happen. When he says that spanking new marinas will be carved out of coral, they will. If Mr. Groves says, no, he says it once.

A good mate can earn $20 on a tourist fishing boat, but he can't do it every day. Some days he sits on a sagging porch squinting. Butter costs too much. A loaf of bread costs to 60 cents. The new system isn't working yet. His people will not learn to buy flour and bake bread. They live off the sea and they will eat barracuda if there is no meat on the table.

Some are poison. Some are not. The native is no chemist, but he can tell one from the other. He hangs the barracuda on the clothesline. The ones which attract flies are cooked. The remainder are thrown away. At night, he often dances with his woman to the tune of an old cranky Victrola. Or a neighbor plays a slow sad blues on a harmonica, and the village listens in silence.

He is seldom sad for long. The Bahamian is an optimist. When he is young, he 'hails' everyone he sees. As he grows older, he becomes careful. His ladies are buxom and walk leaning slightly backward with chins tilted. They like to go to church in white.

Inwardly, the people do not feel better than the whites, nor worse. Just poorer. Water surrounds them and their young can smell a squall an hour before the sky darkens and tongues of lightning dart from the clouds to lick the salt from the sea. Some day, as Poppa Skeeter said years ago, times are going to be better.

Only the gold coin of the sun is dependable. . .

Detroit: Most Integrated City

WASHINGTON—On May 14, this writer devoted a column to the city of Detroit and its mayor, Jerome Patrick Cavanagh, describing him as the No. 1 glamor mayor of America, now facing the fact that his wife had left him, that he had spent too much time traveling abroad, that his city had the biggest crime increase of any in the USA and that he faced a recall.

The mayor vigorously denied these points and threatened a libel suit over the report that his wife had left him.

As of this week, unfortunately, most of the above facts resided in tragic headlines across the nation. Mrs. Cavanagh sued for separate maintenance. The police let part of the population get completely out of hand. And the city faced $200,000,000 of damages in the worst street looting in the last half century.

Traveling over Detroit by helicopter, observers looked down on charred walls, lone chimneys, smoking ruins, a scene familiar to American bomber pilots over Germany in World War II. No one would ever have thought it could happen in America.

Yet it did happen, in a city which was completely integrated, where Negroes had lucrative jobs in the auto plants, the only city in the USA sending two Negroes to Congress. In Detroit, Negroes and whites for many years have lived side by side. Most of them owned their own homes. Walter Reuther years ago had welcomed Negroes into the United Auto Workers, making it one of the most completely integrated unions in the nation.

Yet sections of this model city now lie in smoldering ruins.

Why? There is no one reply to that question; but telling the story of what happened may give the answers.

Trouble began at 5 a.m., Sunday when the police raided the "Blind pig" in the 12th Street area. There is a 2 a.m. closing time for liquor establishments in Detroit, and the police would have been remiss had they failed to raid the Blind Pig.

Inside they arrested 70 Negroes, and started to load them into three cars. However they did not get them loaded fast enough, and a crowd of pimps and prostitutes gathered. They began to hoot and jeer, then threw rocks at car windows.

This points to one reason for the Detroit outbreak—namely, the crime increase and police failure to clean up. Those who started the Detroit riots were the criminal element. But they spread. And Detroit police, understaffed by 500 men, were inadequate.

At first, however, it was not their fault. They

Fidel Castro's Gamble

(C) N.Y. Times News Service

SANTIAGO DE CUBA, Cuba — Two quite different and even contradictory themes now are seen to be dominating the discussion of foreign policy in Cuba. The first is that Cuba must prepare for war because Washington is determined to destroy Fidel Castro's domestic revolution. And the second is that Cuba must help construct a "continental strategy" for waging guerrilla war in Latin America against "North American imperialism."

This is a tragic confusion and miscalculation of Washington's purpose and Havana's power. The United States is not opposed to Fidel Castro's internal revolution, but to the export of his revolution to other parts of Latin America by force of arms. In fact, probably the only thing that could now revive support in the U.S. for an invasion of Cuba would be for this island to become the brain and arsenal of series of successful guerrilla wars in the hemisphere. This danger, however, is apparently not recognized here.

There is a problem in U.S.-Cuban relations that will bear careful watching. Officials here are not only gloating over the difficulties of the U.S. in Vietnam, but linking the war there with the guerrilla war in Latin America. Castro has got leaders of both North Vietnam and the National Liberation Front here for the Latin American Communist "solidarity" rally, including the N.L.F. commander who is said to have directed the recent successful raid on the U.S. air base at Danang.

The Communist talk of a "continental strategy" is ambitious but simple. While the U.S. has over a half million men in Vietnam, the Cuban government wants to see the guerrilla operations in Bolivia, Venezuela, Guatemala, Colombia and Peru increased, coordinated, and if possible expanded to other parts of Latin America.

The assumptions of the Communist activists here are that the social order in most countries of the hemisphere is rotten, that the governments of these countries are weak, and that the U.S. will eventually intervene to prevent their overthrow as it is charged here with already doing in Bolivia. It is therefore imperative, according to this theme, that the guerrilla operations should be widely scattered to complicate and weaken counteraction by the U.S., and that they should proceed in accordance with a careful plan for limited short-range objectives.

The aim in phase one of the guerrilla actions, under this plan, should not be to seize power or risk major military operations with government forces aided by the U.S., but to create chaos, dramatize the weakness of the governments now in power, and if possible encourage opposition within the U.S. to intervention by American troops in guerrilla wars all over the place.

Pearson

were ordered not to resist looters. The head of the Civil Rights Commission, Damon Keith, a Negro who is expected to become a federal judge, phoned the news media asking them not to publicize the riots; to give Negro leaders time to get things under control.

Congressman John Conyers, a Negro, invaded the 12th Street area to urge his fellow Negroes to keep the peace. Conyers was knocked off the top of his car.

Meanwhile the police stood by, still under orders not to shoot. All over town this word spread like wildfire. It was a free license to loot. Black and white citizens alike took advantage of that license. Out of one store ten Negroes carried a safe. A policeman looked the other way.

Through Sunday the looting continued. Food, appliances, furs, clothing, firearms, all were carried away by the armful or the truckload. Drug stores and liquor stores were broken open. Looters got drunk on gin and hopped up on drugs.

Finally, late Sunday evening, the National Guard was ordered in. But there was another delay of three hours. Meanwhile the looting continued. And during the Sunday night it spread to the East Side, and a day later to Pontiac and surrounding cities. Like a prairie fire it spread.

One committee representing 191 grocers told their story. All white, they had been wiped out. They had not been able to get insurance in that part of town. One man told how he had worked seven days a week for 24 years, saved up $28,000. Now all was gone.

There was a total of 714 reported fires. Early Monday morning a woman called the fire department, beseeching them to come to her home. She said it was on fire.

The department responded to her entreaties. The fire engine ran into a deadly cross-fire of shooting. It was a trap. The firemen had to abandon two of their trucks.

Police Commissioner Ray Girardin had organized crack emergency police squads to cope with the riots in different sections of Detroit. They remained immobile, not called upon to operate.

The reasons for the razing of some parts of America's fifth biggest city can be summarized as follows:

1. The criminal element in Detroit was unruly even before the riots started. They started the trouble. After that, looting by all elements got out of hand.
2. The Detroit police were ordered not to fire on looters.
3. The Stokely Carmichaels, Floyd McKissicks, Brett Browns and other extremists among Negro leaders had been given so much publicity on television and elsewhere that too many Negroes believed their creed that the Negro had a right to "take."

create precisely the military situation Castro fears the most.

For if the war in Vietnam ends with China establishing an unchallenged sphere of influence in Southeast Asia, and the Arab-Israeli conflict ends with a dominant Soviet sphere of influence in the Middle East—as it very well may—the impulse of a humiliated U.S. would almost certainly be to expell the Communists from its own sphere of influence in this part of the world.

The activists at this Communist meeting here however, are not impressed with this thesis. They are very confident. They think they see in the guerrilla operations in Vietnam the way to paralyze American military power. The more moderate Communists here who want to persist in a policy of "peaceful coexistence" are in the minority and on the defensive, and the language of the activists is couched in the most provocative terms.

Raul Castro, the minister of the Cuban armed forces, for example, has been sneering at Vice President Hubert Humphrey here this week as a man whose main task is to wait for the death of President Johnson, and even former President Eisenhower is characterized by Raul as "a great bandit" who invented a plan for the destruction of the Cuban revolution—a plan says Raul, still in effect.

This is obviously an ugly situation, and if the continental strategy develops, an ominous problem for the future. Cuban officials do not deny it. One of them from the foreign office has just read this dispatch: "That is the way it is," he said. "We do not say it is not dangerous, but that is how things are obviously going."

Finding The Fat In Budget

Let's say you have just drawn up your first budget and divided all your income and all your expenses over a year into monthly totals. You've allowed for regular savings, you've earmarked funds for such future expenses as education, etc. Your result is that your expense total, including savings, comes out way above your income total and the tally indicates you're heading into a flood of red ink.

Where can you cut your expenses?

Typically, a first place many budget-keepers look for fat is in food costs. Although you'll probably find that this is one of the hardest places to cut, ask yourself: Are you shopping the meat sales and specials? Substituting inexpensive but tasty foods where desirable? Cutting waste in over-buying, overserving, improper storage, careless cooking?

A second place many families attempt to cut down is in the "savings" column. This is, though, should be the LAST place for cuts because the secret to successful saving is to consider savings as an untouchable, FIXED expense.

Probably there's also no way to cut major fixed expenses such as rent, mortgage payments, insurance premiums. You have to regard such budget items as "already spent" each month and each year.

However, here is my own list of places to look for worthwhile cuts in your expenses:

- 1) FUNDS EARMARKED FOR EATING OUT. This is one of the few items among your food costs that you might cut significantly.
- 2) CLOTHING COSTS. These can be cut by shopping clothing sales, particularly in late summer and just after Christmas, and by buying more wisely to match new items to outfits family members already own.
- 3) FUEL BILLS. Are you now using the most economical type of fuel for your home? Is your house protected by window stripping (or storm windows) and insulation, big fuel-savers?

4) REPAYMENT OF PAST DEBTS. Can you stretch out your repayment schedule over a longer period, without substantially increasing your interest costs or damaging your credit rating?

- 5) YOUR EMERGENCY SAVINGS FUND. Are you trying to build up this fund too fast? Don't set goals which are impossible to meet. Let your experience show you your reasonable limits.
- 6) MEDICAL COSTS. One way you can reduce your medical costs over the long term is by investing in preventive medical care, regular physical and dental checkups. These will be far less costly than a future medical emergency. Also investigate lower-cost, publicly-supported medical facilities in your area.

7) PERSONAL A L L O W A N C E S. Can these be shaved realistically—or supplemented by part-time earnings?

- 8) HOUSEHOLD HELP EXPENSES. Are you hiring outside help to do jobs which family members could perform in their spare time, at least temporarily? What could you do to cut your personal grooming expenses, your clothing repair and cleaning bills, your telephone expenses? Incidentally, is the person in charge of the family budget the most competent person for the job? You should work out your money management program as a family, but one person should be in charge of enforcing the budget.

Of course, in addition to cutting expenses to balance your family budget, you can try to boost the family's income. Remember that a part-time job paying just $20 a week for one family member adds up to an extra $1,000 or more a year in total family income.

However you manage to balance your budget, and it may take months of trial and error before you achieve this, the main point is that your own family's techniques should reflect your own family's priorities. Just by reaching a decision on these, you'll be way ahead.

From Our Corner

By LENORE MCINTYRE
A SOURCE OF KNOWLEDGE

It's amazing what one can learn simply by reading the mail that comes across the desk before stashing it away in the round file. In fact, this may be the very source from which self-styled journalists have built their facade of erudition.

Knowledge is something that should be shared and so I unselfishly pass along to you today certain tidbits that if used wisely should enhance your conversational status in any group, mixed or mixed-up.

Those of you who have reached your 40s may also have reached that time in life when the need arises for reading glasses. The old joke about the arms being too short for reading print or threading a needle is no longer amusing.

I'll skip a dissertation on the physiological construction and functions of the eye and the changes that usually take place about midway through the life span. This isn't a new problem because 200 years ago Ben Franklin had trouble reading small print and solved it by inventing the first bifocals.

Now, bifocals enable us to see far away and by dropping our eyes and looking through the bottom area of our lenses we can see things near at hand. And trifocals offer clear vision at a distance, an intermediate point, and up close.

But many people don't like bifocals or trifocals because of the tell-tale lines which are annoying to some wearers because going from one distance area to another in the lenses involves a disconcerting jump to say nothing of a missed step. Women especially hate multi-focal spectacles ever since the television commercials started telling us that such glasses reveal our age.

Optical engineers have worked on perfecting bifocals and have been successful in blending lenses in which the sharp lines between far and near sight are not visible. But a revolutionary spectacle lens has been developed in France and introduced in the United States when His Honor wasn't looking.

The new lenses incorporate all ranges instead of a distance and a near focus. The wearer, in looking straight ahead, sees clearly. In passing from distance to near vision the eye goes through a gradual progression of increasing power in the lenses inside the eye, which is smooth. In simple words, the new spectacles have many invisible focal points and duplicate what the lens within the eye no longer is able to do. So much for Item No. 1.

Science has been trying to come up with a better way to kill bugs ever since Rachel Carson scared us half to death with her book, "The Silent Spring," which is all about the poisons in insecticides and the damage they do to human and animal life. Residents of the Tidioute area, who have been harassed for several years by a nasty little biter commonly called "the black fly," will be especially interested in this discovery which might make lawns and patios and porches habitable once again for humans.

At a recent meeting of the World Health Organization in New York a better way to kill bugs was discussed. One suggestion, not new, is the method of exposing millions of male insects to atomic radiation, usually with radioactive cobalt, and then turning them loose to mate with the females of the species. The males have been sterilized by the radiation and the result is no baby bugs.

A fascinating technique was introduced by a German professor who reasoned that if you took a species of mosquito that was similar to but not exactly like another breed of mosquito, they would mate but because of the slight difference in their heredity they would produce no live offspring.

The scientist conducted experiments in Burmese villages plagued by malaria-causing local mosquitoes and in 12 weeks malaria disappeared completely because no live baby mosquitoes were produced.

Brother Own Pro Baseball Team

A news story from the Palo Alto Times (Calif.) has local interest in that it concerns the brother of a local resident, Mrs. Virginia Mathers, Mrs. Mathers' brother, Joe Graham, a Stanford University geology professor, recently purchased the Medford Giants of the Class A Northwest League, Medford, a town of about 17,000 people, is in the southwestern part of Oregon.

Why he purchased the team is disclosed in the professor's own words: "I loved the game of baseball for many years. My father used to catch for Rube Waddell back in Butler, Pa. I have been following baseball since 1919." Graham started looking around for teams in 1965 and early this year negotiated for the Medford Giants. Three of the teams in the Northwest League are farm teams respectively for the St. Louis Cardinals, the Los Angeles Dodgers, and the Philadelphia Phillies.

Graham first saw a major league baseball game in Pittsburgh in 1923. He earned a trip to Forbes Field for writing the best story about Frankie Frisch. He played semipro baseball in his native Pennsylvania and had a tryout in the minors that was run by an arm injury.

Prior to assuming his position as geology professor at Stanford University, Mr. Graham taught at the University of Vienna in Vienna, Austria, and the University of the Philippines in Manila.

Personals

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Morrow of Boynton Beach, Fla., have been visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John King, on Wednesday evening, visitors at the King residence were Mr. and Mrs. T. N. Clark, also former Tidioute residents now living at Boynton.

generation of mosquitoes in his laboratory until they developed a strain which produces nearly all male offspring. The ratio of his mosquitoes is 95 males to 5 females. The scientist thus concludes that his insects have bred themselves into extinction in just a few generations because of the shortage of females.

He is convinced that if his mosquitoes are turned loose in a given area, his robust and virile males will attract all the females in the vicinity. In the course of a single summer, there will be nothing but males hence, no mosquitoes.

Using insects as insecticides may sound like science fiction but a few years ago "The Pill" would have received the same reaction. Come to think of it, why not a "pill" to reduce the insect population?

Farewell Affair For Pastor

Members of the present board of elders of Tidioute United Presbyterian Church and other elders who have served under the pastorate of the Rev. Nelson O. Horne planned a farewell party for Mr. and Mrs. Horne in the form of a patio picnic to be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John King on Monday evening.

Came the rain and the party was moved to the Presbyterian Church parlors where a delicious buffet dinner was served. Lester Noll acted as toastmaster.

Later, a "Sing-Along-With-Bud" was enjoyed. Featured numbers included a duet by "Bud and Lester" (Mr. Horne and Mr. Noll) and a number by a male trio composed of Bud, Lester and Mike (James Coffman).

Mrs. Charles Anderson, on behalf of the wives of the elders, presented Mrs. Horne with a silver flower arrangement container. Lester Noll presented Mr. Horne with an attaché case as a gift from the elders.

Shadowing the gaiety of the party was the farewell message to the Hornes who have served the Tidioute Presbyterian Church for twelve years. Rev. Horne has accepted a call to serve as pastor of the Port Allegany Presbyterian Church. The best of good wishes of his Tidioute congregation and the entire community go with the Hornes to their new home.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Morrow of Boynton Beach, Fla., and Mr. and Mrs. James Coffman of Oil City were among the guests.

Annual Firemen's Picnic Aug. 27

Tidioute volunteer firemen will hold their annual picnic on Sunday, Aug. 27, at the Tidioute Bucktails range on McCauley Hill. The committee in charge of arrangements includes Hugh McGraw, Bill Buckley and John Christy.

One new member was accepted into the fire company at Tuesday night's meeting. He is Rob Konkle.

The radio check team for the coming month was appointed as follows: August 1, Don Dasher; Aug. 8, Paul Thomas; Aug. 15, George Apple; Aug. 22, Elliott Lanning; and Aug. 29, Paul Craft.

Mt. Grange Joins In Visitations

Mountain Grange has been busy the past week participating in the grange visitation program. On Friday evening the local Grange hosted a visitation and on Tuesday night presented a program in Youngsville.

Nine granges were represented by 77 persons at the meeting in Mountain Grange last Friday night. The Chandelers Valley Grange presented the program which consisted of a history of the guest grange, two skits, a reading, and a poem.

Several members of the Chandelers Valley youth grange participated. A gift was presented to Mountain Grange, with Mrs. Ethel Brecht accepting on behalf of the hosts. The gift was in the form of a certificate containing the names of Chandelers Valley Grange members.

On Tuesday evening, twelve members and eight guests of Mountain Grange visited the Brokenstraw Grange in Youngsville. Mrs. Ethel Brecht presented a history of Mountain Grange and Mr. and Mrs. Paul Thomas each gave a reading. Mrs. Fred Barr directed a chorus of local young people as they sang several selections.

'World Trip' for Garden Club

"A Trip Around the World" was the theme of the program presented at the Tidioute Garden Club meeting held Tuesday night in the Presbyterian church parlors. Three travelers were presented by the program chairman, Mrs. Nelson Horne, focusing on the countries of Russia, Thailand and the state of Hawaii.

A number of countries were depicted by various members through the use of flower arrangements. Co-hosts who served refreshments were Mr. and Mrs. Earl Sundell and Mrs. William Ritchey.

Annoyed by Rioters? Rent-A-Dog

By ANTHONY J. MAY
COLLEGEVILLE, Pa. (AP) — Worried about a robbery, a mugging, a riot?—and want instant protection? You can get it by renting a dog.

Richard A. Veith, operator of one of the nation's law dog rental agencies, says increased crime and violence in the streets has boomed his business.

"Since rioting broke out, my phone hasn't stopped ringing," said Veith. He has kennels with very active German Shepherds in the tiny hamlet of Rahns, three miles from this college town and 30 miles northwest of metropolitan Philadelphia.

Inquiries come from single women, from wives whose husbands travel frequently, from people who are planning a vacation and don't want to leave their homes unguarded, and from businessmen — his steady customers who want low-cost guards for plants or offices.

Veith supplies the dog for $35 a week. There's an extra fee if he must leave the dog alone in a house, and return daily to feed, water and exercise it.

A family returning from vacation must call Veith to come and get his dog, he says, "otherwise they just aren't going to get inside," he says.

Veith says the watchdog is easily trained to attack anyone, except the person he regards as master.

Many of the people who rent dogs get so attached they eventually want to buy one of their own. Veith declines to sell any of the 50 German Shepherds he uses for his weekly, monthly and yearly rentals.

But he sells other dogs that he breeds and trains. He guarantees they'll be vicious when necessary, for guarding.

Need for JP's Is Questioned

By JOHN L. TAYLOR
HARRISBURG (AP) — Two members of the bar disagreed yesterday whether the minor judiciary system in Pennsylvania should be scrapped entirely or whether it should undergo revision.

A representative of the Pennsylvania Bar Association called for abolishment of the more than 4,000 magistrates, aldermen and justices of the peace, and the establishment of community courts presided over by judges learned in the law.

A spokesman for the Pennsylvania Magistrates' Association defended the "centuries-old tradition of the peoples' courts," but admitted that some changes in the present system were needed.

The conflicting opinions were contained in testimony presented before a subcommittee preparing data for the Constitutional convention, scheduled to convene Dec. 1 and draft new sections on judiciary, local government, taxation and finance, and legislative apportionment.

Bernard G. Segal, former chancellor of the Philadelphia Bar Association, compared the minor judiciary system in Pennsylvania to the peoples' court in the Soviet Union, which he said he observed only last week. He said the court was presided over by three judges, only one of whom was a lawyer.

"As far as I know, the socialist countries are the only ones which like Pennsylvania and the dwindling number of states in this country, have lay judges deciding legal questions and presiding in the courts of the land," Segal said.

He cited a 1962 study which showed that most members of the minority judiciary in Pennsylvania were skilled laborers, real estate or insurance agents, housewives or pursuers of other occupations unrelated to law. Only a handful were lawyers, he said.

"Aldermen, justices of the peace and magistrates are part of a system which was outworn before this century began," Segal said. "Unless the entire system is scrapped, no amount of house cleaning will have any lasting effect."

Raymond Pearlstone, solicitor for the Pennsylvania Magistrates' Association, argued that the present justice of the peace system should not be discarded.

"It renders substantial service both to justice and efficiency," he said. "Justice profits from the personal knowledge the local arbiter brings to a case and from the latitude he has in seeking solutions to disputes extra-judicially."

Pearlstone did, however, offer several recommendations for revising the present system. He suggested:

— A reduction in the number of minor judiciary members from the present 4,000 to a minimum of 885, or at least 15 per each of the 59 judicial districts.

— Members of the minor judiciary who have not served at least two 6-year terms be required to successfully complete a course of instruction as prescribed by the legislature.

— Jurisdiction be extended to include taking of pleas of guilty and imposing sentences for certain misdemeanors under the Vehicle Code and Criminal Code.

— Salaries of a minimum $10,000 a year replace the fee system.

— Minor judiciary courtrooms be established.

— Each member of the minor judiciary be assigned at least one clerk paid by the county.

SAID POOR RIOT QUELLERS

Guardsmen Are Criticized

By BOB HORTON
WASHINGTON (AP) — The National Guard is reviewing its riot control training in the wake of sharp criticism and rising demands on Guardsmen in putting down civil disturbances.

In Michigan more than 8,000 Guardsmen were unable to restore order when the Detroit riot erupted. In New Jersey Gov. Richard J. Hughes praised the Guard's performance in Newark turmoil but commented that it should be getting special training in sniper control.

Pentagon sources said Thursday the National Guard Bureau was closely examining its minimum riot-control training demands, which now require state units to have at least six hours of instruction a year.

Most officers believe the scope of the training is adequate. It covers guard duty, bayonet training, hand-to-hand fighting, combat formation, and use of tear gas. Guardsmen may simply need more training sessions.

"We have been able to meet the demands of civil disturbances in the past," one general said, "but even so we've got riots coming up all over the place."

This summer alone nearly 20,000 Guardsmen have been ordered up in at least 10 states to help quell more than a dozen different instances of racial disorder or civil disobedience.

The Continental Army Command establishes the basic riot-control training requirements for Guard units as well as the Army Reserve under the heading "massive defense measures and military support of civil defense."

Specifically, Guard units must get instruction in the role of the military in civil disturbances; command policies and legal considerations including familiarization with local law-enforcement regulations; mob psychology; and use of force in civil disturbances.

The Pentagon said the states "can and generally do go beyond the training directive and have been placing added emphasis on riot control."

How much more training the various state units conduct depends upon each state's estimate of its needs, the Pentagon said.

National Guard officials in Washington have conducted a survey among several state adjutants general to weigh the sentiment for beefing up the riot-training schedule.

The Guard Bureau's position is that the states "are the only ones who are fully aware of their particular problems."

The bureau keeps informed about Guard activities in riot situations through telephoned and written reports from the adjutants general who are in charge of state outfits.

Rec Softball League's Tourney Opens Tonight

The Fourth Annual Recreation League Softball tournament will start at 7 p.m. tonight at Carbon Memorial Field.

A pair of four local entries will host teams in the opening games to be played at 7 and 9 p.m.

In the opener, Towne and Country will host Ashland Oil of Knox. Under the arcs, CPT of Oil City will challenge Prosen's Barber Shop. The host team is made up almost entirely of players from the Twin Drive team.

On Saturday, action will begin at 9 a.m. with Mineral Well meeting C & C Machine Company of Franklin. At 11 a.m., City Ice and Beverage will play Baumann Brothers of Erie. In the final first round game at 1 p.m., Marchbroda's of Franklin meets Amco of Erie.

The championship game in the double-elimination tournament is slated to begin at 7 p.m. Sunday.

Niteclubbers Do It Again, Defeat Twin

Towne and Country inflicted the third straight loss on the Twin Drive in the top Recreation Softball League game played last night at Memorial Field.

In a game at Wilder Field the Mineral Well Mets posted a 9-3 win over City Ice and Beverage.

Jim Ostergard handed Twin Drive its third defeat of the week, but a late rally almost reversed the decision.

The Niteclubbers pushed across nine runs in the first inning before the defending league champs could get on the scoreboard.

Twin Drive scored four runs in the sixth and got four more in the top of the seventh to close the gap to 9-3, but Ostergard pitched his way out of the jam to preserve the win.

Bob Kiestler cracked a home run for the winners. Doubling for T & C were Bob Brooker and Harold Kiestler.

Dick White and Tom Tome had two-baggers for TDL Bob Barney enjoyed a perfect three-for-three night.

In the game at Wilder, Pat Harnett poked a grand slam home run in the fourth inning to break open a 2-1 game and gave the Mets a commanding 6-1 margin. Herb Bouquin, hurrying for the winners, gave up two runs in the fifth inning, but the Mets were never threatened.

Doubling for the winners were Roger Colvin (2), Blair Smoulder and Morty Steele.

Craig Briggs garnered a triple for the Ice men while Bill Cummings and Roger Stewart added doubles.

The losing pitcher was Rex Graham.

Young Rocky Logan showed the older golfers how as he toured the Colawango Valley Country Club course in 38 yesterday in the weekly play.

Following Logan in the first flight was Dr. Ted Kottraba with a 38. The tourney of the day was a "Point System" event with Ross Fisher totaling 14 in this flight.

Dr. Sedwick and Bob Phillips tied for the best golf in the second flight with scores of 42. Tim Arwell had 12 points.

Third flight winner was Ted Serline with a 41. John Haggerty and Tom Marsh each had a 42. Jim Barone had 10 points.

Norm Lundahl and Bob Voigt had rounds of 43 in the fourth flight. There was also a tie for point honors. Gaston Hamilton and Don Conway had eight points apiece.

In the fifth flight Dr. Dave Rice had a 45 and Ken Washington, carded a 47. Harry Barley won the special event with seven points.

There were 43 entries in the "Kicker's" tournament with five winners. They were Jim Barone, Tom Marsh, Ted Berdine, Gaston Hamilton and Henry Lanman.

In last weekend's Governors Cup match at the Club the winner was Bob Blair with an 18-hole total of 69.

Other scores for the event were as follows: Dr. Ted Kottraba, 70; Bob Walsh and Bill Rice, 71; Pete Juliano 72; Tom Marsh, Bob Thompson and Chuck Schmidt, 73; Pam Davis and Tom Arwell 74.

FAIRFIELD, Conn (AP) — Darrell Dess, former all-pro guard with the New York Giants of the National Football League, has quit the club's training camp.

Dess, who underwent minor knee surgery during the off-season, did not participate in Wednesday afternoon's drill but officials believed he was with the trainer and did not show concern. When he did not report for yesterday morning's work, out he was discovered all his personal belongings gone from his room.

PLAY BALL, MISTER?

Two-year-old Mary Nault wants to play ball and will give you the choice of hitting or pitching. The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Larry Nault of 311 Fourth avenue, she proves that there's still hope for the fading national pastime after all. (Photo by Garley)

World Marks Fall as U.S. Gold Medal Total Mounts

By TED SMITH
Associated Press Sports Editor
WINNIPEG, Canada (AP) — Debby Meyer, the amazing 14-year-old swimmer from Sacramento, Calif., knocked more than five seconds off the listed world record for the women's 400-meter freestyle in the Pan-American Games last night and Ken Walsh of East Lansing, Mich., smashed the world mark for 100 meters free style.

Elaine Tanner of Canada, a 16-year-old, won her second backstroke gold medal in what also was decided to be a world mark after considerable debate. She did 100 meters in 1:07.3.

Miss Meyer was timed in 4:32.4 as compared to the listed world mark of 4:38.0 held by Martha Randall of the United States, a time that had been bettered by Pamela Krause of Pompano Beach, Fla., who did 4:36.4 last month. Miss Krause finished second last night.

Walsh, 22, a Michigan State graduate, was clocked in 52.58, under the world mark of 52.9 held jointly by Alan Cottaville of France and the United States' Steve Clark, both set in 1964.

Walsh, leadoff man for the victorious United States 400-meter relay team, was given an official time of 52.6.

The victories by the United States in four out of five swimming finals opened the floodgates for a cascade of American gold medals. After 22 events had been contested, the United States had 17 gold medals, 11 silvers, and three bronzes as compared to three golds, five silvers, and nine bronzes for Canada.

Miss Tanner, who set a world mark of 2:24.5 in the 200-meter backstroke Wednesday night, was clocked in 1:07.32 for the 100-meter event.

The world mark is 1:07.4 held by Anne Fairlie of South Africa. The International Swimming Federation does not recognize hundredth of a second, but as Miss Tanner's record was closer to 1:07.3 than to 1:07.4, officials here decided to give her the world standard.

Doug Russell of Midland, Tex., took the men's 200-meter medley in 2:13.3, a new Games mark, with Bill Hultley of St. Petersburg, Fla., second.

Charles Hickcox of Phoenix, Ariz., won the men's 100-meter backstroke in 1:01.2, another Pan-American record, with Fred Hayward of Santa Clara, Calif., second.

Miss Meyer, a slightly built blonde, who broke the world record of 800 meters and 1,500 meters in a single race earlier this month, won by a whopping margin over Miss Krause.

In the wrestling arena, Gerald Bell, a steelworker from Corland, N.Y., won the 154 pound division by pinning Severino Aguilar of Panama in 1:38.

Anthony (Jack) Keane, East Brunswick, N.J., won the sabre gold medal in fencing, clinching the title with a 5-1 victory over Roman Quinos of Buenos Aires in the six-man round robin final.

Maj. William McMillan, 38, a hard-bitten Marine from Camp Pendleton, Calif., started off the day victoriously by winning the rapid fire pistol competition with 581 out of a possible 600 points. Alberto Maya of Columbia was second with 580 and Sgt. Ed Teague of San Antonio, Tex., was third with 579.

All the way down the list it was an almost monotonous record of American sports domination. The United States is tied for first with Brazil in water polo with 2-0 records, leads in field hockey with 3-0-1 and six points, is tied with Cuba in Group B of men's volleyball with 2-0, is tied with Cuba and Peru in women's volleyball at 1-0, leads its pool in men's basketball at 2-0, is second to Cuba in baseball with a 2-1 record, and leads only in women's basketball with a 1-1 mark.

Wards Post Win
Montgomery Ward posted a win over Pace's Restaurant last night in Midget action, 11-5. Tom Glossnar and Ron Arzner shared the pitching win. Dan Pace was tagged with the loss. Arzner bombed a round-tripper for Wards. Glossnar smashed two three-baggers and doubles were snagged by Larry Linman, Greg Williams, Ronnie Campbell and Corky Fry, all for Wards. Danny Zaffino rapped a triple for Pace's and Tom Pring blasted a double. Pace's now carry a 13-4 mark.

Asphalt Slips By
Warren Asphalt slipped by the Eagles in Midget action last night, 1-0. The win was shared by Dave Freeborough and Jim Salapek. Dan Knupp was charged with the loss for the Eagles. Asphalt's winning run was scored by Freeborough on a single sliced by Jimmy Newark. Asphalt now carries a 14-2 slate.

Walker's Victory
Walker's Dairy sewed up the Eastern Division Midget League last night as they downed New Process 13-6. The win was shared by Walker's by Don Trubie. Mark Selan suffered the loss for N.P.C. This win brought Walker's record to 16-1. Glen Belleau collected a double and a three-bagger for Walker's. A double was smashed by Freeborough on a single sliced by Jimmy Newark. Asphalt now carries a 14-2 slate.

Motor Clogged
Midtown Motors failed to function Wednesday night and were downed by Nites-Lantz IGA 5-2. Greg Redding hurled the win on the Thomas Field diamond. Ed Nelson and Greg Redding each bombed a round-tripper for the winning cause. The Klotzpeak brothers, Joe and Greg, smashed four doubles between them to lead IGA to victory.

Construction Firm
Beyer Construction proved too firm to tumble last night as they downed American Legion 9-0 between the rain drops. The win was hurled by Danny Peterson and Jeff Sedon was tagged with the loss. Homers were blasted for Beyer by Danny Deangelo, David Walters and Mike Constable. Beyer now stands 8-10.

Bank Collects
Pennsylvania Bank & Trust collected a win from North-west Savings and Loan last night in Midget action 9-0. The win was shared by Mark Snarburg and Tim Zadarko. Alan Torrance suffered the loss for Northwest. A round-tripper was bombed by Zadarko and Snarburg smashed at three-bagger. Dan Destefano snagged a double for PBT to close the night out. PBT now has a 14-2 mark.

Atkins Hurls Win
Jeff Atkins fanned ten batters in midget league action last night to lead Segel & Son to victory over Warren National Bank, 5-1. Atkins was on in relief of Tony Pellegrino late in the game. Jackie Martin was tagged with the loss for WNB. Atkins' leadoff home-run gave WNB their only score. Olson and Holtz collected doubles for WNB. A round-tripper for Segel & Son blasted by Tony Pellegrino and a three-bagger by his brother Tom helped out the winning cause. Jim Mosher rounded out the game for Segel & Son with a double. Segel & Son now carry a slate of 11-6.

MAJOR LEAGUE BASEBALL ROUNDUP:

Tigers, Braves Climb into Third In Flag Races; Astros Edge Bucs

BALTIMORE (AP) — Denny McLain fired a seven-hit shutout and Dick McAuliffe homered and drove in two runs, leading Detroit to a 4-0 victory over Baltimore last night.

The victory, Detroit's fifth in six games, boosted the Tigers into third place in the American League past California, which lost to Boston 6-5 in 10 innings. The defeat was the sixth for the Orioles in their last seven games.

McLain had little trouble posting his 12th victory against 11 defeats. Curt Blefary got as far as third base, tripling in the fifth inning. He was erased on a rundown between the plate and third when Dave Johnson grounded to McLain.

McAuliffe's 19th homer came in the seventh inning off loser Tom Phoebus. He also drove in a run with a single in the second. Willie Horton singled in a run in the first as Ray Oyler in the eighth.

Braves-Reds

ATLANTA (AP) — First-inning home runs by Hank Aaron and Felipe Alou powered Atlanta to a 4-1 victory over Cincinnati last night and moved the Braves past the Reds into third place in the National League.

Alou led off the game with his 13th homer and Aaron followed with his 26th after Gary Geiger was safe when Deron Johnson bobbled his grounder at first. Woody Woodward drove in the last Brave run of the inning and the game with a single.

The victory went to Atlanta starter Ken Johnson, 10-4.

Cincinnati starter Sammy Ellis, 6-8, was removed in the first inning without retiring a batter. Cincinnati's only run came in the fifth inning on consecutive singles by Lee Maye and John Edwards and a sacrifice fly by pinch-hitter Mel Queen.

Astros-Pirates

HOUSTON (AP) — Run-scoring singles in the ninth inning by Ron Davis and Joe Morgan gave Houston a 5-4 victory over Pittsburgh last night.

With the Pirates ahead 4-3 going into the bottom of the ninth Bob Lillis led off with a double and slid into third safely when Pirates' reliever Al McBean tried to get him there on Lee Bales' sacrifice attempt.

A bounce over Maury Willis at third by Davis scored Lillis and a single to center by Morgan drove in Bales with the winning run.

The Pirates scored twice in the first on a run-scoring triple by Roberto Clemente who then came in when Chuck Harrison's relay from first was wide at the plate.

McBean took over for starter and winner Woody Fryman in the sixth after two runs were across on hits by Jackie Brandt and Lillis.

In the sixth, Clemente singled and scored on a single by Bill Mazeroski and Manny Mota's fielder's choice. Clemente's two hits raised his average to .354. Houston's Rusty Staub, who went three-for-four, hiked his league-leading average to .358.

BoSox-Angels

BOSTON (AP) — Reggie Smith led off the 10th inning with a triple and raced home on Paul Schaal's error, giving Boston a 6-5 victory over California yesterday.

Smith tripled off Bill Kelson, who had given up a game-tying homer to Tony Conigliaro the inning before, Minnie Rojas then replaced Kelson and got Russ Gibson on a short fly.

Jerry Adair came up and hit a ground to third baseman Schaal, who had entered the game at the start of the inning. Schaal booted the ball, and Smith scooted home with the winning run.

The Red Sox rallied for three runs and a 5-5 tie in the ninth inning. Jim McGlothlin, who had limited Boston to three hits through eight innings, gave up a leadoff single to Mike Andrews in the ninth, and Joe Foy followed with a home run.

Clyde Wright relieved McGlothlin and got one out, but Manager Bill Rigney then brought in Kelson, and Conigliaro tied the game with his 19th homer.

Carl Yastrzemski and George Scott homered for Boston's first two runs.

California scored all of its first five runs in the fifth inning.

Birds Activate Lopez, Richert Lost to Guardians

BALTIMORE (AP) — The Baltimore Orioles announced yesterday pitcher Marcelino Lopez is being placed on the active roster.

At the same time, the Orioles announced another pitcher Pete Richert, was placed on the military list, Richert is serving two weeks active duty with the National Guard.

Lopez, a left-hander acquired from the California Angels June 16, has not yet pitched a regular game for the Orioles. His only appearance was as a pinch runner.

The placing of Richert on the military list means that someone will be dropped when Richert returns Aug. 6.

Woodie Held and Jim Fregosi each singled one across before Don Mincher unloaded his 16th homer, a three-run shot deep into the right field seats.

Yanks-Twins

NEW YORK (AP) — Steve Whitaker doubled home the breaking run in a three-run, fifth-inning rally and added a two-run single in the eighth as the New York Yankees defeated Minnesota 6-2 yesterday.

The Yankees trailed 2-1 going into the fifth, but Horace Clarke walked, stole second, continued to third on Dave Boswell's wild pitch and scored the tying run as Jake Gibbs grounded out.

Roy White, who walked after Clarke went all the way to third, moved to second on Gibbs' grounder and raced home on Whitaker's double. Bill Robinson then capped the rally with a run-scoring single.

The Yankees scored their first run in the fourth on singles by Joe Pepitone and Whitaker and Robinson's grounder that Zoilo Versalles threw away.

Versalles led off the game with a double and scored on Tony Oliva's single. The Twins scored again in the fourth on a double by Sandy Valde pino and Versalles' single.

Phils-Giants

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Home runs by light-hitting Billy Cowan and Bobby Wine accounted for all the scoring in a five-run, third-inning rally that carried the Philadelphia Phillies to an 8-3 victory over the slumping San Francisco Giants yesterday.

Cowan's three-run blast and a two-run homer by Wine helped the Phillies pick up an 8-0 lead and knock Mike McCormick, 13-5.

Beverage Playing Bankers Tonight, Bihler's Sunday

The Warren Beverage Baseball Club, with the first half title in the Glenwood League safely tucked away, will be out to protect its lead in the second half standings as it opens a three-game slate tonight.

Security-Peoples Trust is the local team's opponent this evening in a 6:30 contest at Erie's Bayview Field, then the Bihler Tire club hosts the Beveragemen for a twinbill at West Springfield on Sunday.

Currently riding a 5-0 second half record and an overall 19-3 mark in loop action, Beverage must defeat a resurgent Bank team tonight to stay ahead of Ferraro Ford in the standings. The Bankers were held to a 5-5 tie by the Formden on Wednesday night and can improve their own position by tripping Beverage.

Undefeated Scott Melville (4-0) is in line to start on the mound for the Beveragemen tonight, but Manager Bill LaRosa can also go with either

Jim Patterson (3-1) or Ted Sadowski (2-0). Melville was most effective against the Bankers in their last meeting, but had to be bailed out by ex-Major Leaguer Sadowski in last Saturday's playoff game with Ferraro, won by the Beveragemen, 12-0.

No matter who gets the call tonight, the other two will probably assume the starting roles in Sunday's doubleheader with the Tiremen.

As an added attraction to Beverage's appearance in West Springfield, a special "Booster Day" will be held, with prizes given away during every inning of both games. The opener is slated to get under way at 1 p.m.

The Beveragemen bolstered both their hitting and their pitching averages in last weekend's league action.

Ken Magown and Barney Gidders, the pair that sparked the locals to the playoff victory, showed the most improvement.

Magown boosted his batting average from .420 to .440 and also took over the team's lead in home runs on the strength of a pair of blasts last Saturday. Magown now has seven round-trippers to six for Steve Kudlock.

Gidders jumped from a .389 mark at the plate to a torrid .418, just behind Magown and Kudlock. He slugged another homer against Koehler Beer on Sunday, his fifth, to stay with the leaders.

Magown's five RBIs in the three games held the team lead in that department with 31, but Gidders drove in 11 of his teammates for a season's total of 29 to rank in second place.

Magown leads in hits with 33 and Kudlock has collected 32, followed by Nick Creola (22), Jim Hannon (21) and Ken Martin (20). Magown, Nick Creola and Hannon have all ripped five doubles in loop play, five Beveragemen have slammed two triples apiece.

Kudlock leads the club in runs scored with 29 and both Nick Creola and Magown have touched home plate 28 times.

As a team, including the pitchers, Beverage is hitting the ball at a .339 clip, one percentage point higher than they had shown a week ago.

In the pitching department, Ted Sadowski, Jim Patterson and Rich Matlak each added a victory over the weekend to give Beverage 19 league triumphs against only three losses. The trio raised the team's strike out total from 137 to 169 and a walk by Patterson in Sunday's first game was the only free pass of the weekend in 21 innings.

Cleveland Replaces Salamon with Lund

CLEVELAND (AP) — The Cleveland Indians called up shortstop Gordon Lund from Portland, yesterday to replace Chico Salamon, who is leaving for two weeks of summer camp with the Army Reserve.

Lund, 26, bats right-handed and hit .233 in 84 games with 16 runs batted in this season. He was to join the club in Chicago yesterday.

'Mudcat' Asks Twins to Trade Him

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Jim "Mudcat" Grant, Minnesota Twins' pitching ace when they won the 1965 pennant, has asked to be traded, the Minneapolis Star said yesterday.

"I am asking the Twins to trade me. I have gone through proper channels, telling the manager first so there would not be any feeling I was going over anyone's head." Grant was quoted as saying in a story by Bill Henyon.

"I will ask Mr. Griffith (Twins' president) the same thing," Grant added.

Grant, who won 21 games two years ago plus two World Series contests, voiced his displeasure after being fined $200 for breaking curfew, as well as being removed from a starting assignment.

The right-hander was scheduled to start the second game of Wednesday's doubleheader against the New York Yankees in New York, but Jim Perry got the call instead from Twins' Manager Cal Ermer.

Grant pitched two innings of relief in that game and was tagged for two home runs and three runs.

"I want you to know why I am not starting. It will be news," Grant told the Star sports editor who is traveling with the Twins.

Ermer ran a curfew check on the team after the game here Tuesday night. He announced later that about one-third of the club had been fined for staying out too late but did not specify the amount or name the players. He said the players were all fined the same amount.

Curfew time for the Twins is generally two hours after the team returns to the hotel following a night game.

Grant, who has a 5-6 record this season and has missed several starts because of knee trouble, maintained he had a valid reason for not being in his hotel room.

"I gave Ermer my oath as to just what happened," he said. "My roommate (catcher Earl Batter) did not want to sleep in an air-conditioned room because of his bruised arm. Like an air-conditioned room the night before I pitched.

"I went to the room clerk and received a room which had only a pull-out sofa bed. There I stayed, awakening at 11 a.m.

this (Wednesday) morning.

"I do not mind so much the $250 fine, I do object to Manager Ermer not believing in me.

"I never thought it was necessary to notify him I had changed rooms. The fact that I was scheduled to pitch, in my mind, was an automatic understanding that I would be in bed before curfew."

Ermer confirmed that Grant had asked to be traded. "He has made that request before," said Ermer.

It was the first indication of team dissension since Ermer took over as manager when

Sam Mele was fired in early June.

Can you spot a Koehler Collar?

The nice thing about drinking Koehler is that you can tell the difference before you drink a drop. Just take a look at the picture: they're all Koehler collars. And obviously so.

For Koehler has the collar that's big, foamy, inviting. The collar that tops the beer that fits a beer-drinker's thirst.

Why don't you pour yourself a Koehler collar.

And discover the visible difference.

NO LIMITS ON LAKE, HIGH SPEED LANE FOR KINZUA CREEK

Boating Rules Set at Kinzua Dam

The Pennsylvania Fish Commission, at its meeting in Harrisburg on July 24, confirmed and amended its boating policy on the Kinzua Reservoir and established a 15-mile speed limit in the Kinzua arm of the Allegheny River.

There will be no horsepower restrictions on the lake itself and no speed restrictions on the main body of the lake.

A maximum speed of 8 miles per hour has been set for the four arms of the lake, where local fishermen are permitted, except for the Kinzua arm which will have a 15-mile speed limit approximately 200 feet in width marked buoys.

On the several small bays, particularly on the west shore where local fishing may also develop, a maximum speed limit of 3 miles per hour will be established. Because of these speed limits water skiing will not be possible on these arms and lays, although traffic in the longer arms will be instructed to pass mid-channel buoys close to them.

In other action, the Commission approved one mile of Brokenstraw Creek as a fly-fishing-only area.

Howard Heiny of Williamsport was elected as Commission president and Douglas McWilliams, Bear Gap, as vice-president.

The Commission also approved a plan to combine the Division of Propagation and Distribution (hatcheries) and the Division of Research and Fish Management under a single Division of Fisheries. The work of the two divisions is presently closely related and interdependent. Headquarters for the new combined division will be retained in Centre County.

Successful Weekend Reported by Haller

TONESTA — Fishermen in this area enjoyed one of their most successful weekends of the summer. Nine big bass, three muskies and one walleye were registered in the Haller fishing contest here.

Young William McMongle of Pittsburgh using a 29-cent red and white spoon and fishing the Tonesta Reservoir, caught two muskies, each 33 inches long and weighing 13 and 14 pounds.

The other muskie was caught by an "old pro" fisherman from New Castle, Bob Bordow. His lure was fooled by a "lim jinx" and, at 35 inches, weighed a little over 10 pounds.

Two more "old pros", Pete and Joe Sabot of Springdale and New Kensington, net the jackpot Friday night on Tonesta Reservoir.

They landed a dozen bass, entering the six longest in the Haller contest. Joe Sabot's bass measured 21, 20, 13 and 18 inches, while Pete Sabot's bass were 20 and 18 inches long. The men fished at night with frogs and minnows, paddling canoes, 13 miles during the fishing trip.

The longest bass reported caught at Tonesta last week was a 21 1/2 inch. It took a crab in the Allegheny River and was landed by Charles E. Lucas of Lower Burrell.

A chub fished by Robert W. Davido of Nanty-Glo produced a citation size bass, measuring 20 inches.

Harry J. Shelley of Pittsburgh landed an 18 1/2 inch bass at the spillway of Tonesta Reservoir. He used a crab.

Haller's registered its first walleye in many weeks, when Robert Arroyo of Freeport brought in a 24-inch pike which he caught on a C. P. Swing. His party landed two harts of pike in the Allegheny.

PRACTICE MAKES PERFECT

Shooters for the Cornplanter Rod and Gun Club take aim in a practice round before their league match against Sugar Grove Wednesday night at the local club. Going into the night's action the Cornplanter had a narrow lead. When all the results had been tallied they ended trailing Brokenstraw by one bird.

Next week is the last match of the season for both teams. Taking aim in a practice round for Cornplanter, from the left, are Wayne Malmstrom, Ted Young, George Richards, Carl Nelson and Harold Kiser. Both Kiser and Richards are among the top four shooters in the league. (Photo by Mahan)

Brokenstraw Moves To Trap Loop Lead

Brokenstraw came from behind Wednesday night and overtook the two leaders in the Warren County Trap League.

Prior to this week's shoot Cornplanter and Pine Creek were fighting it out for the lead. Brokenstraw, on the strength of a 123 night, moved one bird ahead of Cornplanter.

Kalbfs Club and Cornplanter both broke more than 120 birds. Kalbus chipped 122 and Cornplanter had a 121.

Next Wednesday will be the final night of shooting for the loop.

TOP CORNPLANTER GUN

Tom Walters of Cornplanter sights in on one of the 25 straight birds he hit in Wednesday night's Warren County Trap League action. His perfect score paced his team to a 121 effort. Cornplanter is now in second place, one bird behind Brokenstraw in the eight team league. The season closes next Wednesday. (Photo by Mahan)

Modell Raps Jimmy Brown For Comments on Dispute

HOLLYWOOD, Calif. (AP) — Former Cleveland Browns star fullback Jim Brown added his views yesterday to a dispute between the team's owner, Art Modell, and five holdout players.

"I feel the public deserves to hear the views, based on the facts, of a former player with the team," Brown told a news conference. "The facts are as follows:

"Mike Howell made $16,000 last year and has been offered a $3,000 raise, which by modern day standards is not a first class raise.

"John Brown had a great year, is really a first string National Football League tackle, but is only making a salary of $15,000 which is low by any standards.

"Sydney Williams is not arguing salary at all, but only asking for equal opportunity to win a first string job.

"John Wooten, all pro guard, is asking the same consideration that a couple of other players have already received—that of having his two-year contract renegotiated because of a particularly outstanding season.

"Finally, Leroy Kelly, who has no peers as a running back other than Dick Bass and Gall Sayers, received the unbelievable salary, last year of $20,000. This man represents the key to a championship for the Cleveland Browns."

Brown declared Modell "is completely off base in telling the press what the Cleveland Browns have done for Negro players. Let it be known that Negro players are NO different from white players in seeking economic betterment.

"These five men," Brown said, "have contributed greatly to the Browns' success in the past. They are not breaking any rules by their actions, but only exercising their right to protest a get-strong policy which the owners have adopted since the merging of the AFL and NFL."

The dispute between the owners and the five players—all of them associated with Brown in the Negro Industrial and Economic Union—erupted Saturday at the Browns' training camp in Hiram, Ohio.

In Cleveland, Modell said the facts and figures listed by Brown "are totally inaccurate."

"The players themselves know what they really earn," he said. "Beyond that I have no further comment."

Newspaper Says German Track Star Defected

HAMBURG, Germany (AP) — Juergen May, East Germany's world record holder in the 1,000-meter run, has defected to West Germany, the nationally circulated daily Bild Zeitung reported last night.

The newspaper, West Germany's largest, said the 25-year-old athlete has been living with West German friends since Wednesday.

May was barred for life from further competition last October when the East German Communist regime decided he was politically unreliable.

Bild said May was well, but wanted to take time to recover from the exertion of his flight.

May set his 1,000-meter record time of 2:16.2 at East Berlin on July 20, 1965. He also holds the German record for 1,500 meters, which he ran in 3:36.4 minutes.

LBJ Viet Envoys' Mission is Vague

By R. W. APPLE JR.
(c) N. Y. Times News Service
SAIGON, South Vietnam—Well-placed United States sources believe that major decisions on the war in Vietnam are unlikely to result from the current tour of President Johnson's two special representatives.

The two—Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, now a White House consultant, and Clark Clifford, chairman of the President's Foreign Intelligence Advisory Board—were in Saigon for two days this week before going on to Thailand, Australia, New Zealand, the Philippines and South Korea.

Their trip has been widely described as a search for more allied troops for the war in South Vietnam, but U.S. officials, including some traveling with Taylor and Clifford, insist that this is not so.

Instead, these officials state, the two representatives have as their primary task reassuring government leaders whom they visit that the war is going very well.

"The President is prepared to stay with it as long as he has to," they are to say, in effect, "and he hopes you'll be willing to do the same."

As part of this presentation, they are to outline the views of U.S. and South Vietnamese officials, and it was for this reason that they came here so soon after the visit of Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara. McNamara spent less than a day with leaders of the Saigon government and did not try to explore their views in detail.

Some of the South Vietnamese, including Maj. Gen. Nguyen Duc Thang, the pacification minister, whom Taylor went out of his way to praise at a news conference on his departure, were reported to be slightly annoyed by McNamara's procedure.

On Tuesday Clifford and Taylor were briefed by Lieut. Gen. Nguyen Van Thieu, the chief of state, Premier Nguyen Cao Ky and other ranking officials. The Americans were told, among other things, of plans to increase the government's armed forces by 55,000 men, to about 875,000, and to put great stress on upgrading the militia.

The two presidential advisers will certainly discuss these proposed strength increases, as well as over-all troop requirements as seen by both Gen. William C. Westmoreland, the U.S. commander in Vietnam, and McNamara, the sources said. But the advisers will probably stop there.

It asked by President Ferdinand E. Marcos, for example, whether more Philippine troops would be welcome, they will reply yes. President Johnson would like to hold to a minimum fresh United States commitments beyond the 480,000 men due to be here by the end of this year.

But the special envoys, according to informed officials, expect no such openhanded proposals, because both the administration and allied diplomats here believe that the other five allies in Vietnam have, for a variety of reasons, sent as many men as they are able, at least for the moment.

Taylor said on his arrival in Saigon that "We are not asking anybody for anything." Clifford made the other half of the point later when he said he and the general bore no specific requests but would be delighted to listen to any proposal that might shorten the war.

South Korean military commanders are eager to have more of their compatriots here to bolster the 45,000-man Korean strike force operating along the central coast of South Vietnam. But the Koreans indicate privately that they do not expect to get reinforcements.

The Australians, whose activities are centered in Bien Hoa and Phuoc Tuy provinces east of Saigon, have a force of 6,300 men in Vietnam, and would like a third infantry battalion so they could operate as a full brigade.

An Australian officer, asked whether he was optimistic, replied: "You heard what our prime minister said the other day: 'No.'"

The 2,000-man Filipino Civic-Action Battalion in Tay Ninh province is unlikely to be augmented, according to President Ferdinand E. Marcos, who made a one-day visit to Vietnam last week.

New Zealand, with only 400 men in Vietnam, and Thailand, whose first combat battalion is not due to arrive until August, are not thought to be in positions to undertake new commitments soon.

All this is well known in Saigon and Washington, and is clearly familiar to Johnson. But by sending Taylor and Clifford to the Pacific, he has given the impression that he is doing his best to avoid heavy new commitments of U.S. troops in Vietnam.

At the same time, he has taken the opportunity to buck up flagging morale, if any, in his allies' capitals, and to remind the world that the U.S. is not the only country with troops fighting alongside the Vietnamese.

Presumably, he will continue the efforts himself at a second meeting of allied leaders in October, either in Bangkok or Seoul.

Hippies Discuss Church and 'J.C.'

By PATRICK E. O'KEEFE
NEW YORK (AP) — "I don't believe in churches, I just believe in Christ," says a 21-year-old hippie known as Groovy. "I see him as a man just like me trying to live without hate."

Groovy and "Calahad," also 21, run a three-apartment commune in New York's East Village, the East Coast version of San Francisco's Haight-Ashbury section. In the commune, real names give way to nicknames.

Groovy and Calahad say they believe in Christ and what he stood for and they refer to him, not irreverently, as "J.C." But they think Christ can be worshipped without a church.

"The church tries to clean up hypocrisy but there's more hypocrisy in the church than anywhere else," says Groovy, sitting against a crumbling wall in the uppermost apartment. Around him hippie boys and girls, aged 17 to 25, sprawl on mattresses in blue jeans, sweat shirts and bare feet, sleeping or talking in muffled voices.

Groovy tightens a black vest around his bare chest and stretching a tattooed arm, brushes back his long black hair and continues:

"Calahad and me were walking around in St. Patrick's Cathedral one day. We were standing by this statue of J.C. hanging on the cross. And we were talking a little. Then this guy comes along—no priest or anything, just a taker of the place—he comes up to tell us to stop talking. And finally he made us leave."

To Groovy the "taker" represents the Establishment.

The spirit of the commune, as the hippies interpret it, harks back to the lives of the early Christians. Anyone is free to come in and sleep on the mattresses, bathe in the tubs set up in the niches of the sleeping rooms and share the evening stew or spaghetti.

County's Postmaster Situation Unique

(TMO News Analysis)

BY LES RICKEY

Warren County is unique in Northwestern Pennsylvania. It is the only county which has had four postmaster positions open for appointment for anywhere from 18 months to six years.

In a survey conducted of three other counties in the area, only four postmaster positions are open. They range from nine months to not more than three months. The reason for this is unclear, but sources inside the local Democratic Party—which has the power of recommending persons for appointment to the positions—have offered plausible reasons.

In the case of Clarendon, where there has been no appointed postmaster for four years, the answer given is that no one passed the Civil Service examination until recently. When a satisfactory score was attained on a test, a recommendation was made. It still is pending.

In the case of Bear Lake and Columbus, where the positions have been without a Senate-endorsed appointment for six years, the answer was more complex. The Democratic Party wanted the acting postmasters (in both cases women temporarily appointed to the positions by outgoing postmasters) to be appointed permanently. In both cases, the attempt to have them appointed postmaster failed because of the Civil Service requirements. One big factor against them was the five-point "spot" added to the Civil Service score for veterans (in the case of disabled veterans, the TMO has learned, the free points amount to 10).

Warren, where 13 months has passed since Brace Knabenshue retired, has a recommendation from the Democratic Party pending.

In the surrounding counties, the situation is different. Erie County has only one postmaster position vacant. It is in Union City, where nine months have passed since the position was vacated. Cameron County has no vacancies. Forest County has a vacancy at Tionesta, where the job has been open for nine months. In McKean County, there are two: Kane, where the position has been open for nine months, and Port Allegany, where not more than three months have passed since the postmaster retired. Cameron County has no vacancies.

One postmastership in the county has been filled in recent history. That is in Youngville, where Einar Olson took the job in May, 1965, after Senate appointment.

The procedure for naming a postmaster is complex. It begins with Civil Service examinations for the post, which are well-publicized. After that, the Civil Service grades the exams and makes the scores public to a select group of interested parties.

Those interested parties include the U.S. Postal Department, the local committee of the party in power, and the senators of the district.

The Postal Department has little or nothing to say apparently, about who will fill the job. This is apparent in conversations with postal employees, with members of the Democratic Party, and with officials of the Postal Department itself. Previous service or experience in the postal system seems to have no bearing on the matter.

The local committee of the party in power makes its recommendation. The President of the United States, usually advised by the Postmaster General (who has traditionally been a political advisor to the President) then makes a recommendation to the Senate, which appoints the postmaster in the community in question. There are 33,000 post offices in the nation.

The senator of the district in question usually has the predominant influence in the appointment. He seldom goes against the wishes of the local committee of the political party involved.

The procedure dates back into the 1800's, when the job of postmaster was a key spot at the community level. It is this hangover from Pony Express days that still is followed today.

But the chain of events seems to have been interrupted somewhere along the line for Warren County.

MATHEWS AT CONVENTION

Joseph Gervase (left), legislative chairman of the NWPSEA, Broilo Alanso, newly elected president of the National Education Association from Tampa, Florida, and Felix Matthews of Youngville, president of the NWPSEA, discuss some of the problems of education at the recent N.E.A. convention held in Minneapolis. Matthews, his wife Eunice, and sons Alan and Ray attended the convention from July 2 to July 8 in Minneapolis. The Matthews family visited areas in Michigan, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Illinois, Indiana and Ohio. The family enjoyed camping, fishing and sight seeing in addition to attending the convention. The family attended the final session of the convention when Vice-President Hubert Humphrey was the featured speaker.

Ranger District Of Sheffield Hit by Vandals

The Sheffield Ranger District has been experiencing some vandalism and thievery in its recreation areas.

The district has always experienced some minor loss and vandalism, which was probably caused by a small number of recreationists. The present problem is one of outright theft and destruction.

The district office said the public is being asked by the U.S. Forest Service and the Pennsylvania Department of Forest and Waters to help protect public interests. If anyone should happen to witness any theft or vandalism on federal land, he can contact any one of the district rangers located at Marienville, Ridgway, Bradford, or Sheffield. Any such cases on state land can be reported to the Pennsylvania Department of Forest and Waters.

Enroll Now

All new secondary students (grades 7-12) who expect to enroll in Youngville High School for the 1967-68 school term are asked to register at the Youngville High School Office as soon as possible. The office is open from 8 to 4 each day. It is important that all new students register now. This will help minimize the problems when school opens on September 6.

Claims Increase

Unemployment claims last week were 33 per cent higher than one year ago at the same time, the Bureau of Employment Security reported. The increase from 59,339 to 80,102 was reported in a release that noted the figure for last week was down 3,520 from the volume of the week ended July 14. Unemployment checks for last week totalled $2,113,952.

Two Are Killed

FRANKLIN — Two Meadville men were killed and two others seriously injured early yesterday in a one-car accident on Route 427. Dead are Thomas R. Barlow, 20, and Larry Platt, 19. Injured were Richard Smith, 21, and Dennis Kleezan. Barlow was identified by police as the driver.

At Chautauqua

Arthur L. Langdon, the first man to be Mayor of Warren, has moved from his residence here to a rest home at Chautauqua. His address is 52 Foster ave., Chautauqua, N.Y. Mayor Langdon told friends he is happy with the new arrangement and very comfortable.

Shenango Dam

The Shenango Dam on the Shenango River at Sharpsville, Pa., selected for recognition because of its "powerful and well proportioned form has been kept simple," received one of four "Honorable Mentions" in the Army Chief of Engineers' Distinguished Architectural Achievement Award competition for 1967.

PITTSFIELD MAN JAILED

Car Theft Brings Charge of Larceny

Borough police yesterday charged a 20-year-old Warren County man with larceny of a motor vehicle.

In jail in lieu of bail is Richard Charles Dunn, RD 1, Pittsfield.

Dunn and a 17-year-old Warren area youth were apprehended following a lead uncovered by Officer Willard Zerbe, Chief Michael Evan and Sgt. Roger Thelin investigated the matter.

The pair are suspected of involvement in a rash of car thefts over the past six months. Dunn was charged specifically for the stolen car spotted by Thelin last Friday night.

Officer Thelin and three state police troopers gave chase and after Dunn ran a road block, according to police, Trooper Gary L. Rain who narrowly escaped being hit by the stolen vehicle, shot a rear tire out. The driver escaped in the woods.

Police stated Dunn is also accused of the theft of a 1961 Buick in Jamestown, N.Y. A stolen motorcycle also figures in the list being investigated by both borough and state police.

Chief Evan said yesterday that questioning revealed that a cash register stolen from Clyde's Penn View Station was thrown into the pond at Warr-Penn. Both Dunn and the juvenile were being questioned in regard to a series of other incidents which occurred in the borough and county.

Phone Booths Damaged in Titusville Area

TITUSVILLE — More than $775 damage was done to four telephone booths in the vicinity Tuesday night, according to a report from state police of the Corry substation.

Police said coin boxes were removed from booths located in Spartansburg, Centerville, Hydetown and the intersection of Route 5 and 77.

Money contained in the coin boxes was estimated to total approximately $170.

The telephone at Hydetown was vandalized in the same way a year ago.

IMERIDA FONSECA

Columbian Girl Has Area Family

The family income of a 6-year-old Columbian girl has been doubled each month because a Sugar Grove family has financially adopted her through Foster Parents' Plan, Inc.

The girl is Imerida Fonseca, whose family lives in Usaquen, a slum area in the Bogota outskirts. The Sugar Grove family who adopted her (not legally, but financially) is Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Mills of RD 3. They pay $15 per month, which supplements the $14 per month earned by Imerida's father in his job as a shoemaker or a bus driver.

The Mills' donation goes for a $8 monthly cash grant, clothing supplies, special medical care, and dental treatment for the child and family. Besides Imerida, there are two more girls: Yolanda, 4, and Olga Lucia, 1½.

Imerida has hopes to become a teacher when she grows up, and the Mills' support will help her attain her ambition.

The Foster Parents' Plan asks a commitment of one year from its donors. "Parents" often continue supporting the child until he or she is graduated or reach the age of 16.

The address of the 30-year-old organization is 352 Park ave., S., New York, N.Y. (10010). The group is non-sectarian, non-profit, and independent of government functions. Contributions and adoption costs are tax deductible.

Bloodmobile Visit

A total of 150 points of blood were donated to the bloodmobile yesterday. Ninety-six pints were donated at the Chapter House and 54 pints were donated at the State Hospital.

5 SENTENCED TODAY

Nine Arraigned In Open Court

Nine persons appeared for arraignment before Judge Alexander C. Flick Jr. while three entered pleas through their attorneys. One case was continued.

Anthony E. Bell, 500 Park ave., Meadville, pleaded guilty to a charge of driving during suspension and was immediately sentenced to pay costs, $100 and four days in jail with credit for three days served in Crawford County where he was picked up on a warrant for his appearance here.

Clarence Milton Brooks, Marienville, AWOL from the Air Corps and charged with larceny, pleaded nolo contendere and will be sentenced this morning. Herbert Lyle Proctor, RD 2, Sugar Grove, AWOL from the Marine Corps and also charged with larceny, entered a guilty plea and is due for sentencing today.

Eve Sivi, 64 Euclid st., Bradford, charged with assault with intent to kill, had the charge reduced to assault and battery, pleaded guilty and will also be sentenced today.

Others who entered pleas which will appear this morning to hear their sentences were: Albert French, RD 1, Clarendon, guilty, larceny; Edwin J. Stenander, 31 Plum st., guilty, furnishing liquor to minors; Donald J. Stuart, Sugar Grove, guilty, driving during suspension; Alvin Daniel Whipple, 319 Jackson ave., guilty, corrupting morals of a minor.

George M. Martin, 9 Center st., Sheffield, entered a plea of nolo contendere to a charge of corrupting morals of a minor and will also be sentenced today. Robert Minor, 1 Wilson st., entered an identical plea to a worthless check charge but sentence was delayed until Sept. 22.

Only one person pleaded innocent through her attorney Robert Wolfe yesterday. Opal Miles, RD 1, Spring Creek, cited for driving during suspension will have her case reviewed by the August grand jury which convenes at 10 a.m. Monday, August 7.

In addition to those scheduled to appear before Judge Flick at 10 a.m. today is a Warren County man charged with fornication and bastardy.

Area Men in Armed Service

PHILIP POMPILIO

Airman 3-c Philip A. Pompilio, 15 Cedar st., departed for Clark AFB in the Philippines Monday where he will be stationed for the next 18 months.

Prior to a 30-day leave at home, Airman Pompilio graduated from three months of specialized training at Amarillo AFB, Texas.

Upon his transfer to that base, he was selected student leader and received the Green Rope, worn for authority of command.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James M. Pompilio, Warren.

Town Crier

... By Les Rickey

If you ever have to get anything from the U.S. Postal Department in Washington, take my advice: Write them a letter and forget about it completely.

Any other attempt will result in little else than complete and total frustration. I had the misfortune to fall into their hands the other day, and believe me it is impossible to describe the feeling.

I visualize the Postal Department's telephone system as being 30 telephones in one small room, with only three people handling them. Two of them are women, the third a college student working part-time.

The procedure is this: The telephone rings, and the first woman poses as the operator. She transfers the call to the second woman, who asks you who you are, what your business is, and to whom you expect to speak. Then she transfers the call back to the operator, who transfers you back to the second woman again for the same procedure.

After 10 minutes or so of this, you get the part-time professional telephone-answerer. He listens to your sad story, rattles off some gibberish about federal legislation aimed at doing away with the entire federal system, tells you it doesn't have a chance of passing, and says he'll transfer you to another office. You get the second woman, who tells you to wait a minute, then transfers you back to the college student.

If you're a nervous person, you have by this time filled five large sheets of paper with meaningless names and scrawls. After 30 minutes, you are in one of three situations or any combination of these three. They are (1) you've forgotten what you called about in the first place, (2) frustrated to the point of incoherence, or (3) a babbling idiot who's ready for retirement to anyplace other than where you're at.

It's amazing. They don't handle telephone calls any better than they do mail. That, my friends, is sheer proof to me that they've done it intentionally and have reached a pinnacle of super-efficiency.

Glenell Kay Gilman Is Married In United Presbyterian Church

Glenell Kay Gilman and James Elwood Lauffenburger were united in marriage on Saturday, July 22, at 2:00 p. m.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Gilman, 5 South State Street, North Warren, Pennsylvania, and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ward Lauffenburger, 734 Cobham Park Road, Warren, Pennsylvania. The double ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. Nelson Beck in the United Presbyterian Church in North Warren.

Twin baskets of white carnations and gladiolus and ferns adorned the altar for the double ring ceremony.

Bruce Lindquist, organist, and James Cruickshank, soloist, provided the wedding music. One hundred and fifty guests attended the wedding.

Escorted to the altar on the arm of her father, the bride wore a wedding gown of Alencon lace and pearls with three-quarter length sleeves, empire waist and long Alencon lace train. The bride's shoulder length veil and crown were of pearls and crystal and she carried a hand bouquet of white sweetheart roses.

Miss Cindy King of Sugar Grove was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Carol Swanson of North Warren, and Tippy Nero of Warren. Loure Ann Reynolds of North Warren was flower girl and Berry Dean Lauffenburger, cousin of the groom, was the ring bearer.

The bride's attendants wore identical gowns in different colors. The matron of honor wore a gown of maize yellow and the bridesmaids wore pink. Styled with empire lace tops and slim full-length skirts, the gowns had detachable trains of rayon chiffon over acetate tulle. The maid of honor carried yellow and white carnations and the bridesmaids carried pink and white carnations. The flower girl wore a yellow empire style dress and carried a basket of summer flowers. Ward Lauffenburger, brother of the groom, was best man, Gerald Gilman, brother of the bride and Al Mimm, cousin of the groom, ushered the guests to their seats.

The bride's mother chose a rose two-piece dress for the wedding and wore a corsage of rose and white carnations. The groom's mother wore a blue dress and wore a corsage of blue and white carnations. Grandparents attending the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Gilman and Mr. and Mrs. Edward Stites.

Following the wedding a reception was held in the church Fellowship Hall. Aides for the reception were Mrs. Gladys Miller, Warren, Mrs. Rhoda Wolfe, Bradford, aunts of the bride, Mrs. Beverly Polley of Warren, aunt of the groom, and Mrs. Bobby Reynolds of North Warren. Also attending at the reception were Miss Becky Ferguson of North Warren, Miss Becky Wolfe of Bradford, cousin of the bride, and Miss Beth Ann Lauffenburger of Warren, sister of the groom.

For the wedding trip to Canada, the new Mrs. Lauffenburger wore a pink and white nylon dress with her corsage of white sweetheart roses taken from her bridal bouquet. Both are Warren Area High School graduates. The bride is employed by Sylvania and the groom is employed as a heavy equipment operator for Valentines.

The couple will make their home on Cobham Park Road. Other pre-nuptial events were hosted by Mrs. Bobby Reynolds, Mrs. Leslie Swanson, Miss Carol Swanson, Mrs. Ward Lauffenburger, and girls of the Sylvania Plastic Department. Out of town guests were from Bradford, Clarion, Clarendon, Pa., Rochester and Jamestown, New York, and Marion, Indiana.

Ann Landers

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My husband is presently serving in Vietnam. I have always trusted him implicitly and am confident that under normal conditions he would never stray. But now I wonder. Is it too much to expect that a healthy, virile, young husband will remain faithful while fighting in a combat zone?

I have heard that men who must face danger every day of their lives soon get to thinking, "Why not live it up? Tomorrow I might not be here."

When a fighting man returns, should his wife ask him if he has been faithful? What if he says "no"? And what if she doesn't ask him and he confesses to rid himself of the guilt? What should her attitude be?—MYRTLE BEACH

DEAR MYRTLE: You can't jump all men together (service or otherwise) and state flatly that they will all react the same way under any given set of circumstances. Some husbands remain faithful even though they are separated from their wives for years. Others go catting around when their wives check into the hospital for five days to have a baby.

A wife should not ask a husband if he has been faithful. If he confesses to an indiscretion she should listen, forgive him and never bring the matter up again.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: A friend of mine who is also 17 has a brother who is semi-retarded. He is 23, nice looking and can carry on a fairly good conversation. According to his sister he has the mentality of a 14-year-old.

My friend takes her brother to meetings where teen-agers gather, and to some social events. I feel uncomfortable around this boy because he really doesn't fit into the group. Everyone is pleasant to him (I am, too, of course) but somehow I think his sister is not doing right by him because one of these days he is going to be in for a big disappointment.

What is your opinion?—R. L. MISS

DEAR MISS: The boy's sister sounds like a fine girl and deserves praise, not criticism. Many retarded people progress beautifully when they are encouraged to move around socially. It gives them confidence and adds enormously to their general welfare and outlook. I hope you and the others will continue to treat this young man as you would anyone else.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am a member of a swim club. We have several social events during the summer and the women, especially, enjoy putting on dances.

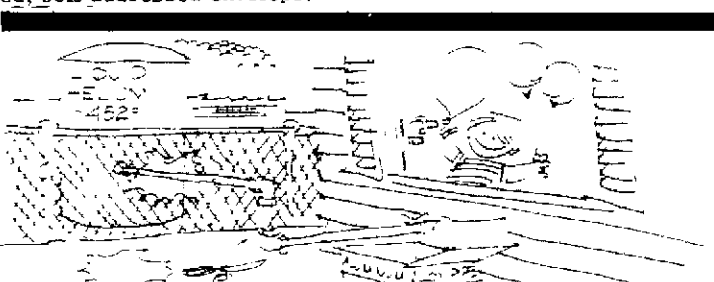

I would never dream of going up to a man and asking him to dance with me. The idea of cutting in on a man who is dancing with another woman is simply revolting. Yet, Ann, it seems as if I cannot dance one entire number with my husband. Somebody always cuts in. I feel like a fool having him snatched away in that manner.

I would like to know how to put a stop to this. My husband is very handsome and an extremely good dancer. He knows I am irked about this but he says he can't do anything about it. Is there something I can do?—INDIGNANT

DEAR IN: Yes, you can grow up and be a gracious wife—or you can continue to do a slow burn and look like a jealous, insecure female.

Do you feel ill at ease . . . out of it? Is everybody having a good time but you? Write for Ann Landers' booklet, "The Key To Popularity," enclosing with your request 35 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

SUPER-COLD liquids such as liquid helium at minus 452 degrees F. can be handled safely in welded pipe fittings made of high-strength aluminum alloys, says Tube Turns, Louisville, Ky. While most other metals become brittle at cryogenic temperatures, the aluminum alloy gets tougher.

A New You by Emily Wilkens

Summer is a good time to get back into "beautiful baby" shape. Think of all the pampering a lucky baby gets. Her skin is kept smooth by daily bathing, oils, lotions and fluffy powder. Healthy food, exercise, plenty of fresh air and sunshine are always on the agenda.

The result: Smooth, glow-glow skin, shiny hair, plump, scaling vitality, exuberance and gurgling laughter. Wouldn't you like to turn back the clock?

TOMBOY PHASE

Unfortunately, little girls often go through a "I won't take a bath" period that starts around five and hopelessly ends at thirteen when, once again, they start to care about how they look. Some girls never quite get out of the tomboy phase. If you are one of them, now is the time to make a real effort to develop more feminine allure.

EAT FOR BEAUTY

Beautifying foods are yours for the eating. Babies thrive on milk, fresh juices, vegetables and fruits, lean meat, eggs, poultry, fish, cottage cheese, whole-grain breads and cereals, simple stewed fruit desserts—and so should you! You'll protect your beauty or years to come if you follow a balanced diet rich in vitamins and minerals.

SMELL SWEET

Ever notice how fragrant a clean baby smells? That daily bath plus powder and baby lotion adds up to the sweet smell of femininity. Nothing's more appealing than a baby girl just before bed—ruffy nightgown, after-bath freshness that's so tempting to "muzzle." You can have this cherished fragrant aura by following the cleanliness rules that were so important back in your pre-toddler days.

HEAVENLY HAIR

A baby's hair is soft and fine to the touch. It's washed frequently and brushed gently—no harsh shampoos, coats of spray or teasing. The more you subject your hair to chemicals, the less lovely it will be.

Of course, you're a big girl now. You frequently resort to using setting lotions and spray. But, remember, easy does it. Gentle castile shampoo, lots of brushing, plus eating the right foods, will make and keep your hair beautiful—naturally. JUST FOR YOU

Babies always take their beauty naps. Try forty winks before a big evening. Pressed for time? Even a ten-minute, "feet-up" rest works wonders.

ENERGY TO SPARE

Even in the dead of winter, mothers take their babies for that two-hour airing. The roses in your cheeks can't bloom in any season of the year if they're wasting away indoors. Make a brisk walk part of your daily beauty routine. You'll not only look better but feel much more energetic.

KEEP MOVING

A baby is on the go every minute she's awake. As a result, she sleeps like the proverbial log and has a lithe, firm active body. Follow the bouncing baby rule. Walk, stretch, jump, skip bend and run whenever you can throughout the day. You'll never be a beauty if you spend the afternoon slumped in a chair thinking of an apple Danish.

If you take a tip or two from the toddler set, the "New You" can be a beautiful baby forever more.

Hint From Heloise

We discovered while preparing for a recent camping trip that a roll of toilet tissue fits nicely in the new two pound coffee can with plastic lid. The paper stays dry and clean.

Mission Speaker Tonight

MISS SUE MARTIN, R.N.

Tonight at the Wiltie Community Church, Miss Sue Martin, R.N., missionary to Haiti and Miss Sara E. Radebaugh, missionary to Honduras, will speak and show slides of their work in these fields. Both women serve with World Gospel Mission, an interdenominational missionary organization, with headquarters in Marion, Indiana. The service will be at 7:30 p.m. and everyone is welcome.

The first Catholic parish in the United States was the parish of St. Augustine, Fla., founded Sept. 8, 1565

The bidding:

East	South	West	North
1	2	Pass	3
Pass	3 NT	Pass	Pass

Opening lead: Jack of ♠

When South overcalled East's opening one spade bid with two clubs, North did not exercise good judgment in offering his partner a direct raise. Holding balanced distribution and a stopper in spades, he should have bid two no trump. If he intends to try for game, a nine trick contract may be more readily within reach.

West opened the jack of spades and South played the ten from dummy. The normal procedure would be to put up the king, for by forcing out the ace, declarer establishes two stoppers for himself, the ten and the queen.

There were other considerations, however, that influenced South. He observed that, if he could pick up the king of clubs, nine tricks would become available to him provided that the defense let him in at the opening gun. Observe that, if East ducks the jack of spades, declarer can overtake his king of diamonds with dummy's ace to finesse East's king of clubs, and thereby score six club tricks, two diamonds, and one spade.

There was an additional factor behind declarer's play from the dummy. By providing East with an inducement to follow with a small card at trick one, South would avert a heart shift by the opposition which might prove most discomforting.

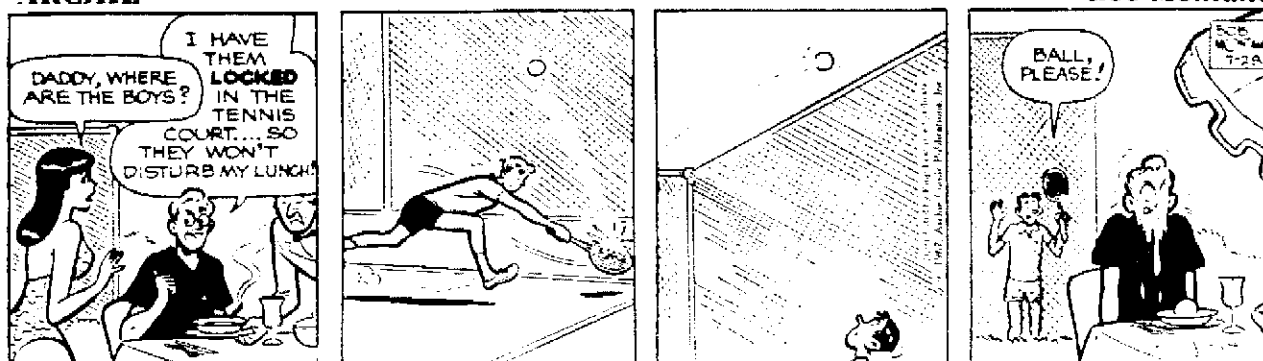

Unfortunately for the declarer, the same set of conclusions were available to East—as soon as he analyzed the reason for dummy's unorthodox play at trick one. It appeared to him that his opponent was unduly anxious to obtain the lead without delay. Furthermore, East was aware that his king of clubs was exposed to imminent capture, and that South might well be in position to run off with nine tricks.

Expérience clearly pointed to prompt and decisive action by the defense. East accordingly put up the ace of spades and shifted to the ace of hearts. West signalled encouragingly with the eight and East continued with the jack. The defense rattled off three more heart tricks to send South down to defeat, before he had time to launch his own campaign.

Your Horoscope

By Frances Drake

Look in the section in which your birthday comes, and find what your outlook is, according to the stars, FOR FRIDAY, JULY 28, 1967.

ARIES (March 21 to April 20)—Here is a splendid day for handling both routine matters and unusual undertakings. New advances indicated in projects which have been standing still. You may be crossed at times, but don't let it bother you.

TAURUS (April 21 to May 21)—Fine planetary influences. With initiative and enterprise, more than usual can be achieved. Day will definitely respond to spunk, pulling power. Use your ingenuity.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21)—Strength of purpose, good judgment and a thorough knowledge of your ground will be needed now. Don't enter into new activities without thorough investigation.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23)—An "ifty" sort of day, much depending on your initiative and approach. You have plenty of planetary backing to carry out sensible moves and plans, however.

LEO (July 24 to August 23)—You have more at work for you than you may realize. Use skills smartly, carefully. You, as many other Zodiacal natives now, must keep abreast of new trends, unexpectedly changing situations.

VIRGO (August 24 to September 23)—This will be a good day for getting "pecky" details straightened out, making amends where needed, and generally cleaning up the state before the weekend starts. Be patient if some matters don't "jell" as quickly as you'd like.

LIBRA (September 24 to October 23)—Good planetary influences. You can manage in better-than-average fashion, yet must take precautions not to underestimate or over-evaluate new propositions.

SCORPIO (October 24 to November 23)—Reflexes, intuition and business acumen should be keen now. Especially favored under day's aspects: Research, merchandising, business transactions in general.

SAGITTARIUS (November 24 to December 21)—Line up necessary tasks and handle in the order of their importance. Some unusual factors must be better understood. Be your innately practical self.

CAPRICORN (December 22 to January 20)—Do not become frustrated over possible delays or disappointments. And DO watch the "little" things which could cause unnecessary friction among associates. Stress the Capricornian's innate intelligence and foresightedness in changing undesirable situations.

AQUARIUS (January 21 to February 19)—Above-average opportunities, but you may have to seek out some for yourself. If gracious and tactful, you can gain any assistance you may need to advance your status.

PISCES (February 20 to March 20)—Avoid procrastinating in matters which, while not pressing, should be handled before they clutter your program. Don't waste precious moments in day-dreaming.

YOU BORN TODAY are natural leaders, and often take unconventional routes to reach your goals. You usually act smartly and with precision, but can antagonize associates through sarcasm and arrogance, if not careful. Try to be more patient with those who are less gifted than yourself. The Leoite can become a clever mimic, or entertainer in other fields; can also excel as executive, dramatic critic, in the law or as a salesman. Birthdate of: Mrs. John F. (Jacqueline) Kennedy, wife of U.S. President.

How to Keep Well

By Dr. T. R. Van Dellen

DOES HEAT CAUSE CAVITIES?

An English physician blames unusual heat sensitivity for dental decay. According to the author, writing in The Lancet, primitive man never had dental cavities. He compared the eating habits of primitive man with those of modern man and found the main difference is that we cook our food and our teeth are hypersensitive to heat. Everyone is entitled to their opinion and the English medico is convinced to the extent that he has not used hot food or drink for years. He eats a normal amount of sweets and biscuits. During this time he has not needed a dental filling. There is enough logic in his theory to make it plausible.

A closer look, however, reveals several assumptions that need further investigation. Is it true, for example, that "Primitive man had, and still has, caries-free teeth." Eskimos may not develop cavities but their teeth usually wear out early in life from chewing on bones. Many primitive persons died before they had a chance to develop the diseases of civilization.

People susceptible to cavities may lose all their teeth by the age of 20. Others inherit caries-resistant ivories and never are bothered, regardless of diet.

The English physician feels that all living tissue is heat-sensitive but offers no scientific proof even though it would be easy to determine whether teeth suffer from heat.

I would like to believe that nature built our teeth to last from infancy to old age without requiring a single filling.

Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request.

TOMORROW: Minocqua Rescue Team.

SICK CAVY

W. V. writes: Last Thanksgiving, I was bitten while trying to feed my pet cavy (guinea pig) who seemed to be ill. A week later it died. This worries me because I read that if an animal dies within six days he is rabid. This is what happened to Oliver.

Your little pet may have had rabies but this is doubtful so long as he was not in contact with other animals. In addition, the incubation period elapsed long ago.

INJURED NAIL

Mrs. C. writes: My young daughter caught her thumb in the door and the nail turned black and blue. Will the black part grow out or will the nail fall off?

The discoloration is caused by blood under the nail. Usually after such a mishap the nail becomes loose and may be lost. Growth from the root in time replaces the old nail.

SORE BONES AFTER SPREE

R. Q. writes: What causes sore bones all over the body the day after attending a drinking party?

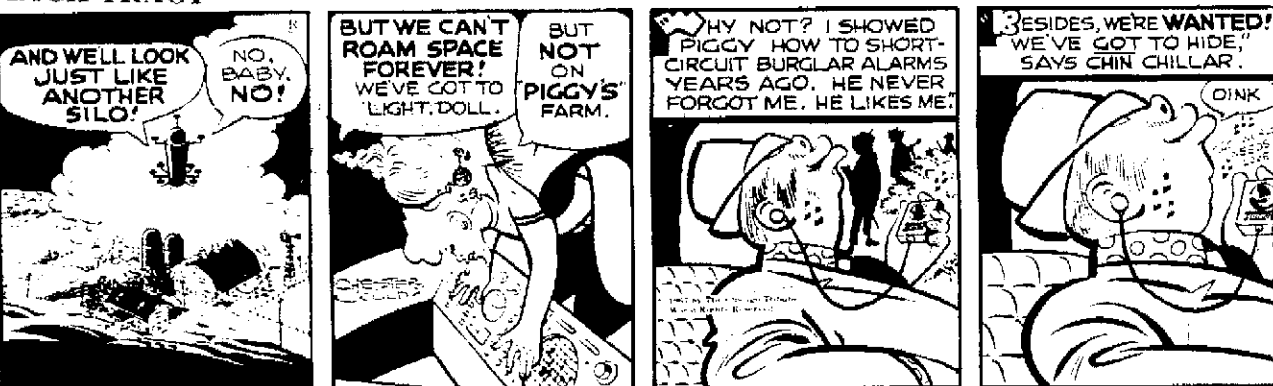

Doing things you don't remember, such as rolling in a gutter.

HOW MANY HEART ATTACKS?

Mrs. E. W. writes: How many attacks of coronary thrombosis can a person pull through?

I don't know who holds the record but a patient of mine lived through 10.

THEATER REVIEW

Local Playhouse Cast Meets Challenge of Albee's Work

By BETTY RICE
There were those who said Edward Albee's "Who's Afraid of Virginia Woolf?" should not be attempted at Plowright Playhouse.

This reviewer, after attending opening night, is glad the new summer theater group was not afraid to provide the area with an absolutely electric production.

A cast of four combined talents and the end result was exciting, absorbing and definitely explosive.

The fact that director and cast had only a short few weeks in which to rehearse and polish the performance also impressed us. Only true dedication could account for the smoothness of action and flawless characterization.

While the four stars had the necessary spark of genius and were not without previous experience, it must be said that Larry K. Hamilton must have what it takes to direct.

From Fun and Games to Walpurgisnacht (witches holiday) and the haunting Exorcism that climaxed Albee's masterpiece, Lois Byham as Martha deftly reached the pinnacle of her previous successes. This was undoubtedly her most difficult role and very definitely her best.

Bill Odell was George and he too rose to the challenge. Odell was completely in control of the situation and most convincing. There were moments when one who has posed as a director wished George would coordinate gesticulation with articulation, since this might accelerate the pace of the play.

In the midst of her talented and veteran co-workers, Jennifer Beckley shone like a bright but elusive meteorite. Relatively new to the theater, Jennifer brought to the role of Honey a special something—a vital touch that every once in a while and when needed, temporarily relieved the tension building up as the play progressed.

Chip Lucia, who said the role of Nick was an elusive one to capture, hit his usual strong stride and walked away with a fair share of the acting honors. It would seem Chip has chosen wisely to study dramatics further for he certainly has something great to contribute.

Again backstage personnel deserves credit. The set, George and Martha's house on campus of a small New England college, had a stamp of authenticity with lighting flawless and effective.

Molly Oriole was assistant for the production with Chuck Bigelow handling lighting design and Chris Wade carrying out the plans. Cindy Kopf and Bob Kates took care of props and set design.

No one who appreciates good theater need be afraid to travel to Plowright Playhouse and see "Who's Afraid of Virginia Woolf?" before its closing night on Sunday, August 6. Curtain time is 8:30 p.m. except Mondays and Tuesdays.

EXPLOSIVE!

"Explosive" is the word for Edward Albee's "Who's Afraid of Virginia Woolf?" which premiered Wednesday at Plowright Playhouse. When one arrives at George and Martha's (played by Lois Byham and Bill Odell above) for an evening of fun and games, anything can happen and does! Chip Lucia and Jennifer Beckley co-star. ## Vandals Sought by Rangers

The Sheffield Ranger District has been experiencing some vandalism and thievery in its recreation areas. The Forest Service is soliciting public help to bring these illegal practices to an end.

The district has always experienced some minor loss and vandalism, which was probably caused by a small number of inconsiderate recreationists. The present problem is one of outright theft and destruction.

Since the damage was done to U. S. Government property, strict federal laws forbidding such practices have been violated, the district office said in a news release.

The recreation areas involved have been constructed and are being maintained with public funds for public benefit. Recreation use of these areas has been high with most areas reaching capacity every week-end. As a result of the recent loss due to theft and destruction, the legitimate recreationist has been deprived of some of the facilities he has learned to expect and respect from the Allegheny National Forest.

Any damage to a tax-supported agency is a damage to the taxpayers who support that agency, the district office said. The public is therefore being asked by the U. S. Forest Service and the Pennsylvania Department of Forest and Waters to help protect your interests. If anyone should happen to witness any theft or vandalism on federal land, contact any one of the district rangers located at Marienville, Ridgway, Bradford, or Sheffield. Any such cases on state land should be reported to the Pennsylvania Department of Forest and Waters in Warren.

Reptiles eat little in relation to their body weight. They get most of the heat they need from outside their bodies by basking in the Sun for instance.

Men in Uniform

Marine Private Kenneth H. Silvis, son of Mrs. Signe Silvis of Clarendon is going through recruit training at Parris Island, S. C.

Marine Private Samuel Manno Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Manno of 812 West Fifth st., Warren, Pa., is going through recruit training at Parris Island, S. C.

SCIENCE SKETCHES

FAILURE to cope with leisure time may seriously damage an individual's physical and mental health, a University of Wisconsin expert warns. A person's health deteriorates when his use of leisure time is characterized by decreased physical activity, social isolation, sensory deprivation, lack of mental stimulation and lack of adequate motivation.

Moose Family Picnic Scheduled for Sunday

Moose Lodge 109 of Warren will hold its family picnic on Sunday at the Y-Bar-U Saddle Club headquarters on Scandia Road.

The picnic is open to members and non-members. The event begins at noon. The Moose Lodge is located at 422 Pennsylvania ave. W.

Sheep have three times as many red corpuscles as humans do.
